TO YOU, AS A MEMBER OF NCFR FROM ELEANORE LUCKEY, PRESIDENT

In the study of NCFR membership done in 1970 we discovered that 83% of our members have never been nominated for or appointed to an office either at national or regional levels, and that over a third of our members would like to be involved.

One of the problems I have found as President of NCFR is in locating those people. At the beginning of my term of office I thought there were a lot of disinterested members who didn't have time to participate, but with more experience I've discovered that is not the case. I simply didn't know how to tap our resources. Former presidents told me they had the same difficulty.

We especially need more representation and involvement from our minority group members, our students, and our women.

To help me and future officers, I would like to create a roster that we could use to locate those of you who are interested in participating in NCFR functions. Enclosed with this newsletter is a sheet. Please fill in the blanks and return at your earliest convenience. Send to:

COMMISSION ON POPULATION GROWTH AND THE AMERICAN FUTURE

At the recent meeting of the NCFR Board of Directors, a motion was passed that the following letter be sent to President Nixon. A similar letter went to significant others.

President Richard Nixon
The White House
Washington, D. C. 20500

Dear Mr. President:

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the National Council on Family Relations, I am writing in regard to the public controversy surrounding the report of the Commission on Population Growth and the American Future. The NCFR, since 1938 an organization concerned with family life and its improvement, consists of approximately 5,000 scholars, counselors, teachers, and other professionals from all parts of the nation.

In the past two years, the membership has voted strongly in favor of two resolutions which touch on significant matters also considered by the Population Commission. About 75% of the voters regard abortion as a private matter between a woman and her physician. Our members do not favor abortion as a primary form of birth control, but they feel that the availability of safe early abortion is a necessary part of comprehensive, voluntary family planning services and that illegal, inhumane, and dangerous abortion practices cannot be dealt with by traditional anti-abortion statutes. A second resolution, favoring education on population, human sexuality, and family planning throughout the school years, received the support of 85% of respondents, many of whom are or will be responsible for such courses in the schools.

Equally distinguished members of our organization dissented from the resolutions, often with profound and articulate concern. However, it is fair to conclude that a large majority of family specialists finds safe medical and sound education on sex and family planning to be consistent with the support and improvement of family life in the United States. Should you wish further information on the views of the membership or of particular experts on specific issues, we will be pleased to cooperate to the best of our ability.

Respectfully yours,
Eleanore Luckey, Ph.D.
President

ACTION FROM FAMILY ACTION COMMITTEE

David H. Olson, Chairman, and E. James Lieberman, Co-chairman, announce that new procedures have been created for position statements on social issues and legislation.

The NCFR Board has approved a procedure which will enable the President and the National Office of NCFR to speak on behalf of the organization in response to social issues and legislative action relevant to families and family life in this country. The Board also gave permission to release these Statements to the press, Congressmen and other interested parties.

The procedure for Position Statements was proposed by the Family Action Committee (FAC) and it is similar to, but more efficient than, the procedure currently available for Position Papers. The primary difference between Position Statements and Position Papers is that the former are usually more lengthy and do not necessitate immediate response from NCFR. Because Position Statements need to be more responsive to social and legislative issues, new procedures have been developed and approved to speed up the process of approving and publicizing them. So while Position Papers might take as long as a year to receive final approval, Position Statements can be approved within a period of one week. Also, while Position Papers require the approval of the entire membership, Position Statements are approved by the Board of Directors.

The details of the procedure for Position Statements are as follows: (1) Any individual, committee, or section within NCFR can write a position statement on any issue of relevance to family life in this country. The statement should be as concise as possible and should generally not exceed 100 words. The statement needs to be signed by 25 members of NCFR before it will be considered. (2) The statement and signatures are then sent to the Family Action Committee. The FAC will edit the statement, with the approval of the group submitting the statement, in order to facilitate its passage. (3) The FAC will then send the statement to the President and the entire Board of Directors for approval. (4) The Board is given one week to vote on the statement. If 2/3 of those responding vote in favor of the statement, it will be considered approved. (5) Approved statements will be publicized by the President and the National Office. This will include releasing the statement to the press, Congressmen, and other appropriate organizations and individuals. The statement will also be published in the NCFR Newsletter to inform all NCFR members of the actual statement.

FAMILY ACTION SUPPORTS EQUAL RIGHTS AMENDMENT

The Family Action Committee is pleased to announce that the Equal Rights Amendment was passed by the United States Senate (March 22, 1972) and has been sent to the States for ratification.

In support of the Equal Rights Amendment, the FAC of NCFR prepared a letter which informed the Senators of our concern regarding this Amendment and urged them to vote for the Amendment. The letter also contained supportive documents regarding the Amendment.

For the first time in the history of NCFR, a position has been taken on a national issue of relevance to all women and families and this information has been provided to Congressmen before voting on the issue.

The initiative for this action was proposed by Jessie Bernard, and a core group composed of Jessie Bernard, Robert Ryder, James Lieberman, and David Olson prepared the materials.

While this action is a first for NCFR, it is hoped that it will represent only a beginning in the organization's continuing efforts to speak in an affirmative way for legislation related to the improvement of individual and family life in this country.

SUPPORT OF INDIVIDUALS AND AFFILIATED COUNCILS NEEDED REGARDING EQUAL RIGHTS!!

At the present time, the Equal Rights Amendment needs to be ratified by 38 of the states before it becomes part of the Constitution. It is at the state and local level that you can be most effective in bringing about support. This can be done by writing to your state Representatives and Senators and voicing your support. You might also want to attach the recent letter which was sent by the FAC for NCFR. A copy of the letter can be obtained from the National Office.

The following states have already ratified the Amendment: Hawaii, New Hampshire, Nebraska, Delaware, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Texas and Maryland. All the other states are still in the process of voting and could use your support.

ANNUAL MEETING

The 1972 NCFR Annual Meeting shows promise of being one of the most important events of the year. Two plenary sessions will feature panels. One, arranged by Robert Bell, Temple University, is entitled, "Abortion: Changing Concepts and Future Implications." Joy Osofsky, Temple University, is session leader, and panel members include: Sadja Goldsmith, Planned Parenthood, Alameda-San Francisco-Oakland, California; Ruth Romer, University of California, Los Angeles; Ned Wagner, University of Washington; and Howard Osofsky, Temple University Health Sciences Center. A second, arranged by Jay Skidmore, Utah State University, has as its topic, "Power Struggles and Politics in Family Life Education." At a third plenary Jay Haley, Philadelphia Child Guidance Clinic will speak on "Power Relations in Family Therapy." Murray Straus, University of New Hampshire, is general program chairman.

The Conference theme is Politics, Power, and the Family. The dates are November 1-4, and the place is the Hilton Hotel, Portland, Oregon.

Included with this Newsletter is valuable information about group flight rates. Conference registration forms and hotel information will accompany the August Newsletter.

FUN ARRANGED FOR THE PORTLAND MEETING

Helen Hartness, local arrangements chairman, and her committee are busily arranging several pleasant events. She reports that refreshments at the reception Wednesday evening will feature Oregon foods. A salmon barbecue on the beach of the mighty Pacific Ocean is planned for Friday. Buses will leave the hotel at 2:30 for a conducted tour along beautiful shoreland, a trip of 160-200 miles. The cost, including the barbecue, is $14.50. In order to have this rate, everyone must go in buses, and 250 must register. Complete details will appear in the August Newsletter. Optional tours to Mr. Hood, the Columbia River Gorge, may be arranged before or after the conference. In addition, Portland itself has much to offer.

PRE-CONFERENCES ARE ANNOUNCED

Teaching About Women. Rose Somerville and others are arranging a stimulating session for Wednesday, November 1. Write of your interest and concern to Rose M. Somerville, Chairman, Task Force on Women's Rights and Responsibilities, 1426 Merritt Drive, El Cajon, California 92020.

Developing Personal Potential - An Intensive Experience Marathon conducted by Herbert and Roberta Otto. (Herbert Otto is Chairman, the National Center for the Exploration of Human Potential, La Jolla, California.) A caring supportive group experience that focuses on the exploration and development of strengths and potentials as well as factors that are keeping participants from utilizing their strengths. Emphasis will be on the development of the self-actualizing processes. Time: October 31, 1:00 to 10:00 p.m.; November 1, 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Write Herbert A. Otto, 6365 Camino de la Costa, La Jolla, California 92037.

About Your Sexuality. Deryck Calderwood, New York University, Elaine Smith, Seattle Community College, and members of the Unitarian National Staff will conduct a workshop beginning at 9:00 a.m., October 31, and running until noon on November 1. For information write Deryck Calderwood, 27 Harvey Drive, Summit, New Jersey 07901.

Treatment of Sexual Inadequacies. E. Lee Doyle will conduct a session on the treatment of sexual inadequacies at a pre-conference workshop. She was the first female co-therapist to work in this area with Masters and Johnson. She is now in private practice in the treatment of sexual dysfunctions, marriage counseling, and individual psychotherapy. The workshop is tentatively scheduled for Wednesday, November 1. Final details will be announced in August. Write her of your interest at 8616 Northwest Plaza, Suite 304, Dallas, Texas 75225.

CALL FOR STUDENT PARTICIPATION AT THE ANNUAL MEETING

Student and young professional members of NCFR will have an opportunity to chair several roundtable discussion sessions at the annual meeting in Portland. This was a decision agreed upon by the NCFR Board of Directors and Executive Committee at their Dallas Conference in April. This action was taken at the request of the student members of the board since students are often not able to meet early deadlines for plenary paper sessions.

If you are interested in chairing a session, please send a brief abstract of a paper you would like to present to Sander Latts, General College, Nicholson Hall, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455.

Indicate that you are a student, and state your plans for the session. Most roundtable sessions consist of lunch followed by a presentation of 20 minutes, usually based on a paper. The remainder of the time is used for discussion by the group.

The local arrangements committee is making arrangements for reduced rates for student lodging at the annual meeting. The low cost of hotel rooms for students should make the financial burden of attending much easier. If you are not interested in chairing a roundtable session, but would like otherwise to be involved in the meeting, please write to Graham Spanier,

Student and Young Professional Representative, NCFR Board of Directors, Department of Sociology, Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois 60201, so that he will have your name at the meeting.

ANNUAL MEETING ROUNDTABLE TOPICS AND LEADERS NEEDED

Luncheon-Roundtables will be held at the Annual Meeting on Thursday, November 2, and Saturday, November 4. The Luncheon-Roundtables provide a wonderful opportunity for those interested in a particular topic to eat together and discuss their mutual concerns with the help of a resource leader. Topics may center around the theme, "Politics, Power, and the Family," or on other subjects fitting the roundtable format. Contact the chairman, Sander Latts, University of Minnesota, 106 Nicholson Hall, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455, if you wish to lead a roundtable. Indicate your area of interest. Write him too if you wish to suggest topics for discussion, but do not want to be the resource person yourself.

EVERYONE BRING ONE IN '72

It is not often in a professional lifetime that one has the opportunity to become a member of an organization that is truly responsive to member needs and also concerned about people in general. These are only a small sample of the many significant benefits that accrue to the person who becomes a member of the National Council on Family Relations.

We feel that the personal invitation--member to non-member--is perhaps one of the most effective methods of introducing NCFR to new people. We would like to strongly encourage each NCFR member to make a personal commitment to the ideals and goals of our organization by bringing into NCFR at least one new member in 1972.

We would like to initiate this effort--membership year '72--with a Spring membership drive. This will take advantage of student potential before summer vacation and will also coincide with the seasonal high (spring) for other individuals. I would like to urge each membership committee member to encourage every NCFR member within your geographical area to accept this challenge and responsibility for building membership in NCFR for 1972. Everyone bring one for '72.

Dean K. Hoffman, Chairman, NCFR Membership Committee

STUDENTS DESCRIBE FAMILY GRADUATE PROGRAMS

A new booklet, "Graduate Programs in the Family: Student Perspectives," is now available from the NCFR office.

Written by graduate students themselves, the booklet is intended to give prospective students a flavor of family related programs. Described are such issues as the emphases of the program - empirical, functional, etc.; where the sympathies lie; the kind of student sought and turned out; the availability of fellowships and assistantships; the flexibility of the program; the marketability of the degree; the morale of the students; and a list of faculty and their primary interests.

The programs at 17 colleges and universities are described in this first edition of the booklet. The NCFR also prints a National Directory of Graduate Programs and Post Doctoral Opportunities in Family Studies ($1.50) which lists statistical information on many additional programs. Most of the larger integrated programs in the family are, however, described in the student produced booklet. Those who desire a copy should send $1.25 to NCFR to cover the costs of printing and handling.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

With this issue of the Newsletter, a new department, Letters to the Editor is being established. Write of your concerns.

"The pleas of Black Americans for black power emphasizes the need and desire of this group to obtain the facilities or "power" to help themselves to increase the meaningfulness and happiness of their own lives. An important aspect of their demands is that the Blacks would prefer to be taught, counseled and led by their own people.

This underscores a failure in our field of the family, as well as in most other areas of social service to afford the majority of Blacks the opportunity to help themselves. Obviously our educational institutions simply are not turning out enough Blacks to work in the area of the family.

With increasing emphasis being placed upon legal, educational and financial aid to Black families, there is an urgent need for more qualified workers in this field. The Black pride movement, coupled with distrust of whites in general, indicates that Black family workers should be serving Black families if any success is expected in these programs.

The primary purpose of this letter is to recommend that our colleges and universities, particularly graduate schools, make a more concerted effort to seek out, recruit and train interested, bright, young Blacks to serve in the family services field. I am NOT suggesting that quotas be established in any way, manner or form. But most of us do realize how few minority group students are enrolled in our programs, even today. Let us take the initiative of working through community leaders, as well as Black student organizations to encourage more qualified minority students to at least seek application. It will also be necessary to adapt many of our programs to meet the need for experiences in practical application of the theory and research in family, as well as seek placement for them upon graduation.

Let us at least help the minorities to help themselves."

Bill Streit, University of Connecticut

WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE ON AGING

At the recent White House Conference on Aging, President Nixon outlined five major elements in a strategy for the complex problems faced by older Americans: (1) Improving the income position of older Americans; (2) Upgrading the quality of nursing homes; (3) Helping older Americans lead dignified, independent lives in their own homes; (4) Expanding opportunities for the involvement of older persons in community life; (5) Organizing the Government to meet the changing needs of older Americans.

Muriel W. Brown, Family Life Consultant, is NCFR's representative to the Steering Committee of National Voluntary Organizations working to implement the recommendations. Ellen Winston is committee chairman.

NCFR AFFILIATED COUNCILS

THE GEORGIA COUNCIL ON FAMILY RELATIONS was instituted April 15, 1972, at a preliminary meeting of 47 persons. James Kilgore, Counselor, 204 Northside Medical Center, 275 Carpenter Drive, Atlanta, Georgia 30328, is chairman of the steering committee.

THE FAMILY RELATIONS COUNCIL OF LOUISIANA held its annual meeting on the LSU campus in March. The theme was "Life Styles of the Future." Alice T. Teddlie, president of the Louisiana Council presided. Newly elected president is Dorothy Risinger, Louisiana State University School of Medicine, Shreveport, Louisiana 71101.

THE OHIO COUNCIL ON FAMILY RELATIONS is sponsoring a two-day symposium on "The Self, Role, and Family in a Changing Society," in Columbus, October 12-13. Symposium meetings are open to NCFR members and other state affiliates. INSTITUTE FOR TEACHERS OF FAMILY THERAPY. In an arrangement with the Pennsylvania Bureau of Mental Health Services, the Philadelphia Child Guidance Clinic has established the Institute for Teachers of Family Therapy. The Institute is making available a group of teachers of family therapy to staffs of Commonwealth supported mental health facilities. The goal is to provide family therapy training.

Faculty are developing training programs related to the particular characteristics of each facility, taking into account the population service, the range of delivery of services, and the organizational structure of the facility. The teachers will operate through family therapy sections in the participating facilities for a period of five months on a one to two day a week basis. The sections will be groups of approximately 5 people who will work in family therapy under supervision of the teacher. The training program will provide an orientation to family structure and therapy. The participants will be expected to carry families in treatment for supervision. Supervision will employ audio-visual recordings of family sessions.

A library of training materials, films, video tapes and visual aids are being used by the faculty. Training films illustrating techniques and principles of family therapy are being produced by the Philadelphia Child Guidance Clinic as part of this overall endeavor.

During the first year training programs have been established in community mental health centers, child guidance clinics and state hospitals located through Pennsylvania.

1972 NCFR ANNUAL MEETING
October 31-November 4
Portland Hilton - Portland

PRELIMINARY TRANSPORTATION SURVEY

The NCFR in cooperation with Pol Travel Service, Inc., St. Paul, Mn., is attempting for the first time to arrange group flight rates to Portland. In order for Pol travel to offer these group rates the below passenger requirements must be met. We would appreciate your checking your desired flight and day if you are interested in participating.

Flight Day October 31	Flight Day November 4	To Portland From -	Number Passengers Required	Regular Fare	Group Fare	Savings
		San Diego	25*	$146.00	$116.00	$ 30.00
		Los Angeles	25*	118.00	106.00	12.00
		San Francisco	25*	84.00	75.00	9.00
		New York	20*	326.00	290.00	36.00
		Washington DC	10*	310.00	289.00	21.00
		Atlanta	1 + Chicago Group	292.00	230.00	62.00
		Detroit	10 + Chicago Group	272.00	161.20	110.80
		Chicago	52	246.00	118.00	128.00
		Minneapolis	25*	216.00	172.00	44.00
		Toronto	1 + Chicago Group	330.24	202.24	128.00

*Group travel to Portland, independent return permitted.
Chicago and Minneapolis become consolidation points to use the lower, larger group rates.
Atlanta, Detroit and Chicago passengers (52) must travel together in both directions from the Chicago origin. There is a possibility of even further reductions with greater participation.

Please return this form by JULY 7 so that Pol Travel Service can tabulate the results to see what group rates could be offered. These group rates will be published in the August Newsletter and at that time confirmed reservation along with payment will be requested.
