PSYCHOLOGICAL FILMS, INC.

presents:

BETWEEN MAN AND WOMAN

A 1973 production which will be of interest to those working in the fields of personality development, and marriage and family relations. This is a film interview featuring Dr. Everett L. Shostrom of The Institute of Therapeutic Psychology, Santa Ana, Calif.

The film depicts the various marital roles people play in a relationship between husband and wife such as—the “Mother-Son” relationship, the “Daddy-Doll” relationship, the “Bitch-Nice Guy” relationship, the “Master-Servant” relationship, the “Hawks” and the “Doves.”

The film has a professional actor and actress role-playing each of these modes of reacting. They then attempt to demonstrate what an actualizing or rhythmic relationship is like.

TARGET FIVE

This film series features the eminent family therapist, Virginia Satir. In the first film, Mrs. Satir and Dr. Shostrom demonstrate the four manipulative response forms. Each of the four forms are illustrated by a simulated family. The conclusion of the first part of the series shows the family actualizing together which is described as “Target Five.”

In the second part of the series, Mrs. Satir describes the three essential qualities of an actualizing relationship as (1) hearing and listening, (2) understanding, and (3) mutual meaning. Each of these three dimensions are discussed in detail and demonstrated on film. The development of an actualizing relationship is the key goal of this film.

LOWEN AND BIO-ENERGETIC THERAPY

Dr. Alexander Lowen is the foremost exponent of incorporating direct work with the body in the therapeutic process. His work in Bio-energetics represents an extension of the work of Wilhelm Reich and is enjoying great popularity in the United States today.

In this film, Dr. Lowen describes his key ideas of Bio-Energetic therapy and demonstrates them in his work with a young female patient. Lowen's theory is that the “unconscious” really exists in the muscle constrictions of the body. His view that therapy requires working with the body as opposed to the “mind” represents a totally new dimension of psychotherapy.

FRANKL AND THE SEARCH FOR MEANING

Dr. Viktor Frankl is the originator of the school of logotherapy, often referred to as the third Viennese school of psychotherapy. Dr. Frankl spent three grim years in Nazi Prisons. During this time, and partly because of the incredible suffering and degradation of those harrowing years, he developed his theory of logotherapy.

In this film, Dr. Frankl describes man's search for meaning as a form of “height” psychology as opposed to the Freudian theory which is described as “depth” psychology. In man's continuous growth upward toward self-actualization, he discovers new meanings for himself. Frankl describes meaning as a form of personalized valuing that each man must have in order to make his life meaningful.

CARL ROGERS

PERSONS AS PARTNERS

Carl Rogers, proponent of a humane person-oriented tradition in American psychology and one of the most influential leaders in the counseling profession, shares his views on marriage and the relationships between men and women in these five new films.

Carl Rogers on Marriage: Persons as Partners. Dr. Rogers answers the question of whether there are any factors in partnerships between men and women which distinguish between those which are satisfying, enriching, growthful and permanent from those relationships which are unenhancing and do not work, ending in unhappiness, separation or divorce. He describes the "threads" he has observed that are inherent in successful and fulfilling partnerships and outlines learning experiences which are essential preparation for enriching partnerships. 28 minutes. 16mm, color and sound. Sale price $250; rental fee per day of use $25. (order #28)

Carl Rogers on Marriage: An Interview with Hal and Jane. Hal and Jane have been married for fifteen years and have five children. They come from quite different backgrounds. Hal is from a Catholic patriarchal home while Jane is from a Jewish matriarchal home. During their interview, Hal and Jane describe the changing nature of their relationship over the past fifteen years . . . the problems in the early years of their marriage which Jane felt most acutely . . . the strain Hal has felt in the last several years as Jane has become involved in training for a profession and has grown more independent from him . . . the sources of enrichment and fulfillment in their relationship . . . the experience of constructing a family unit and culture comfortable and satisfying to both of them. In a commentary after the interview, Dr. Rogers shares what he observed and learned from Hal and Jane's partnership. 44 minutes, 16mm, color and sound. Sale price $300; rental fee per day of use $25. (order #29)

Carl Rogers on Marriage: An Interview with Bob and Carol. Bob and Carol relate the circumstances surrounding a dramatic change in the nature of their six year marriage. From all external appearances, this marriage seemed to be successful. Both college graduates, they had acquired all the appropriate trappings so often associated with a happy marriage including a house on a tree-lined street, a new baby, a new car and furniture. Within their personal relationship, however, they were angry and frustrated with each other without understanding why. In retrospect, they indicated that one major source of stress had been their lack of separateness as individuals, their belief that they had to do everything together, and the fact that they both stopped growing as people when they married. When Bob told Carol one year ago of his affairs outside their marriage, it marked the beginning of their separateness as people, and the start of a much more open relationship. Now they state that both are free to date and pursue other relationships. They describe their personal growth experiences both within and outside the marriage, and the stresses and enrichment which have developed as a result. In a commentary after the interview, Dr. Rogers shares what he observed and learned from Bob and Carol's partnership. 44 minutes. 16mm, color and sound. Sale price $300; rental fee per day of use $30. (order #30)

on Marriage: An Interview with
Nancy and John. Nancy and John have been married for only six months although they lived together for one and one-half years before marrying. Both believe that one person cannot meet all the needs of the other and therefore they give each other freedom to date. Getting married had been a worrisome experience for John, especially when he reflected upon the marriages of many of his friends. Before the marriage they felt each day represented an opportunity to choose each other anew, a feeling John now misses. Nancy reports feeling no differently perhaps because, as she said, she felt married when she wasn't, though she now no longer has the worry of hiding their living together from her parents. They candidly discuss other issues on which they differ, how they resolve differences between them, and what have been crises for them, particularly as they related to relationships outside the marriage. In a commentary after the interview, Dr. Rogers shares what he has observed and learned from Nancy and John's partnership. 42 minutes. 16mm, color and sound. Sale price $300; rental fee per day of use $30. (order #31)

Carl Rogers
on Marriage: An Interview with Jane and Jerry. Jane and Jerry have been married for seventeen years and have two children. Jane describes the first years of marriage as being lonely ones for her. Jerry was married to his job and his mind was similarly preoccupied even when he was physically at home. Because of the involvement with his job, Jerry had not understood Jane's loneliness in the early years. Another source of stress for her in the last several years has been the strain in her relationship with her adolescent son as he has become more independent and consequently less dependent on her. After a recent move to a community which Jane did not like, she decided to return to school. With her education completed, she indicated that she planned to return to their former home to take a professional position. This was a "blockbuster" for Jerry. After extended discussion, the family is moving with her and Jerry will change jobs. They also candidly discuss conflicts over money and the fact that their sexual relationship is not as rewarding as they would like it to be. In a commentary after the interview, Dr. Rogers shares what he has observed and learned from Jane and Jerry's partnership. 44 minutes. 16mm, color and sound. Sale price $300; rental fee per day of use $30. (order #32)

be an effective parent!

Dr. Thomas Gordon, a well known individual and group psychotherapist and author of a new book entitled "Parent Effectiveness Training," is the first to appear in APGA's new film series, EXPLORATIONS IN HUMAN DEVELOPMENT.

THOMAS GORDON ON BEING AN EFFECTIVE PARENT. The Parent Effectiveness Training (PET) program, developed by Dr. Gordon, applies basic counseling skills and human relations techniques to parent-child relationships. PET provides a sound basis for promoting mutual understanding and communication between parents and children. In the first reel, Dr. Gordon teaches parents the skill of active listening, a technique used when it is the child who has a problem. He also teaches parents how to accurately communicate their own concerns and needs. Role play demonstrations of effective and ineffective communication illustrate these concepts in action. After each demonstration, Dr. Gordon discusses the dynamics and utility of PET.

In reel two, he presents the "no lose" method of conflict resolution, the core of PET. Parents are taught how to reach solutions to conflict which meet the needs of both the parent and child. As such, the "no lose" method provides parents with a constructive alternative to either authoritarianism on the one hand, or permissiveness on the other. Dr. Gordon illustrates and amplifies this method with role play demonstrations. 45 minutes (two reels). 16mm, color and sound. Sale price $300; rental fee per day of use $30. (order #25)

● MARRIAGE AND FAMILY INTERACTION, *Third Edition

By ROBERT R. BELL, Temple University

Primarily a functional text for marriage and family courses, but the orientation is not functional in the "how-to-do-it" sense. Based on the author's belief that the college student with a better understanding of contemporary American marriage and family interaction will be better able to understand himself and others.

Manual of Objective Tests available to adopters.

● PARENTS IN MODERN AMERICA: A Sociological Analysis

By E. E. LeMASTERS, University of Wisconsin

This paperback is intended as a supplementary text for use in marriage, family, and child development courses. It is unusual in that it focuses on the role of parents and not on the child. The award-winning author is concerned with problems that most American parents seem to have, not just the inadequate ones and not just the middle class ones. New edition in preparation for 1974.

245 pp / $4.00

● SEXUAL DEVELOPMENT AND BEHAVIOR: Selected Readings

Edited by ANNE McCREARY JUHASZ, Loyola University, Chicago

Organized around the choice of a sexual life style harmonious with self concept, value system, ideals and goals, selections in this paperback serve as a reference for the young adult. Selections enable him to devise a conception of sexuality which is satisfying to him in terms of emotional and social development and ethical acceptability.

VIOLENCE IN THE FAMILY

Edited by SUZANNE K. STEINMETZ, Temple University, and MURRAY A. STRAUS, University of New Hampshire. Paperback. Tentative, $4.95

Described as "a milestone in family sociology" by one reviewer, this is the first comprehensive book to assemble materials from a wide variety of books and journals that bear on an important and neglected aspect of family life—namely violence among family members.

A thoughtful introductory essay and headnotes for each article relate each selection to the theoretical framework that is also interdisciplinary. Concerned with describing the causes of violence between husbands and wives, parental violence, and the ways in which families train children to be violent, there are also prescriptive sections dealing with the control of violence.
