HUMAN SERVICE
ORGANIZATIONS: A Book of Readings

Foreword by Wilbur J. Cohen

Within a unique framework this comprehensive collection brings together for the first time the essential literature on the structure and functioning of organizations providing services to people: schools, employment agencies, mental health clinics, correctional institutions, welfare agencies, and hospitals. $15.00, paper $7.95

Eric Bermann
SCAPEGOAT: The Impact of Death-Fear on an American Family

"Scapegoat is a very important book, a landmark in the study of the relationship between individual and family dynamics and the wider culture."
—Margaret Mead

"Children lost and wandering in their own families, made the scapegoats of their own parents, is the theme of this important book . . . What Dr. Bermann here describes is probably widespread in American families, but very rarely described. It is therefore all the more urgent that we read Scapegoat now, before it is too late."

The Family in Social Context

Second Edition

GERALD R. LESLIE, University of Florida. □ Praised for its comparative approach, its correlation of theory and research and its flexible organization, this well established textbook analyzes the contemporary American family system from a wide range of viewpoints. Arrangement is in five main parts, presenting a balanced coverage of cross-cultural, historical, theoretical, sociological, institutional, and life cycle material. This new edition has broadened its perspective to permit the most recent developments—women's liberation, communal living experiments, and the newly recognized strengths of black families—to be seen in their larger significance rather than as short-lived phenomena.

From a review of the First Edition:

"Dr. Leslie presents here a truly comprehensive (700 pages on a wide variety of topics) and up-to-date (current research used in depth) textbook for various courses dealing with the sociology of marriage and family. . . . This versatile text can be heartily recommended to experts for their marriage and family courses and also to the interested layman."—Social Science

PARENTS IN MODERN AMERICA, *Revised Edition

E. E. LeMasters, University of Wisconsin

Emphasizes the parent, not the child, focusing on what happens to parents in the child rearing process. The approach is sociological rather than psychological or psychiatric. Includes new trends in parental counseling, and analyzes the impact of the youth counter culture on parents.

Paperbound / 1974 / $4.00

MARRIAGE AND FAMILY INTERACTION, *Third Edition

Robert R. Bell, Temple University

Primarily a functional text for marriage and family courses, but the orientation is not functional in the "how-to-do-it" sense. Based on the author's belief that the college student with a better understanding of contemporary American marriage and family interaction will be better able to understand himself and others.

1971 / $11.50

SEXUAL DEVELOPMENT AND BEHAVIOR: *Selected Readings

Edited by Anne McCreary Juhasz, Loyola University—Chicago

Organized around the choice of a sexual life style harmonious with self concept, value system, ideals and goals, selections in this text serve as a reference for the young adult.

Paperbound / 1973 / $7.50

*Examination copies for college adoption available on request;
please indicate course title and text presently used.*
