

Dr. Willie is Professor of Education and Urban Studies, Harvard Graduate School of Education. Formerly, he was Chairperson of the Department of Sociology and Vice President at Syracuse University. He is a fellow of the American Sociological Association and former president of the Eastern Sociological Society. He has served on the Board of Directors of the Social Science Research Council, was a member of the President's Commission on Mental Health, and was until recently a national officer of the Episcopal Church in the United States. He has authored books on A New Look at Black

Families and The Family Life of Black People, and has published many articles. Dr. Willie, whose address is a student-sponsored activity, will speak on "Caste, Class, and Family Life-Chances: A Comparative Analysis."

Dr. Kathryn E. Walker, Professor, Department of Consumer Economics and Housing, Cornell University, is recognized as an authority in the area of allocation of time to household work by family members. Her interest in management of family resources has been her primary focus throughout her professional career in teaching and research at Cornell. In recent years she has published widely and has participated in numerous national and international conferences on topics related to nonmarket household production. Her most extensive research was a study of time use for household work in about 1400 families in central New York State. The major purpose of this research was to measure the time work load of families of varying size at different stages of the family cycle. Since 1976 she has served as chairman of the technical committee for a research project on "Interstate Urban/Rural Comparison of Family's Time Use," sponsored by the North Eastern Region of the United States Department of Agriculture Experiment Stations with cooperators from 11 states. These states are widely scattered from east to west between Connecticut and Oregon, and from north to south between Wisconsin and Louisiana.

Dr. Walker's address, "Time Use in Families, a New Study: Implications for Understanding Everyday Life," will focus primarily on implications of results of analyses of time-use research completed within the past year with the assistance of several graduate students. Slide projection will be used to present research findings and to examine implications of the extent of change in time allocation in this period of role conflicts and changing patterns of activities of the individuals living together in households.

Dr. Ethel Shanas, recipient of the 1978 Ernest W. Burgess Award, will present the Burgess Award address on the topic of "Older People and Their Families: The New Pioneers." Dr. Shanas is Professor of Sociology at the University of Illinois, Chicago Circle, and Professor of Health Care Services at the University of Illinois Medical Center. Her work has been focused in two areas: the field of aging, particularly the family life of old people, and the field of health, including the health of the elderly and the organization of medical care. Her special interest in crosscultural studies is reflected in her research carried on over a period of years in Britain, Scandinavia, Poland, Yugoslavia, and Israel. She has been an Academic Visitor at both the London School of Economics and Bedford College, London, the Vice-Chairman of a United Nations Expert group on Aging, Rapporteur of a United Nations Seminar on Social Research and Social Welfare Policies for the Aged, and an officer and member of the Council of the International Association of Gerontology and chairperson of its liaison committee with the United Nations. She has also been a member of the Adult Development and Aging Training and Research Committee of the National Institute of Health and is now a member of the National Research Council Committee on Aging and the United States National Committee on Vital and Health Statistics and Chairperson of its Technical Consultant Panel on Longterm Care Statistics. In addition, Dr. Shanas is a member and officer of numerous organizations, the recipient of several awards, and has published many books, monographs, articles, and chapters in books.

The Section programs are described in detail in the Newsletter. However, we want to mention one special offering in the Education Section, the Improvisational Theater on Teen Issues and Family Life, Youth Expression Theater of Boston, sponsored by the Planned Parenthood Association. Eight or ten young people will be performing and interacting with the audience.

Plan to attend the Annual Meeting Banquet this year! In addition to the president's address, Bert Adams, NCFR member, and member of the Civic Opera of Madison, Wisconsin, will present several musical comedy numbers. His wife, Diane, will accompany him on the piano.

Finally, we call your attention to the Annual Meeting Reception at City Hall, a marvelous modern building. Wine and cheese will be provided, and probably Mayor White will be present.

SIGHT SEEING IN MASSACHUSETTS

Introduction to Boston Tour Offered:

Thursday, August 16, from 2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., join with NCFR members to enjoy the Introduction to Boston Tour. The tour will begin at the hotel, and will end at the famous Faneuil Hall Marketplace, where those who wish to remain to shop and browse may do so; others may return by bus to the hotel. To reserve space, use the registration form enclosed with the Newsletter.

Many other tours will be available through the services of Exec-U-Tours of Boston: to Sturbridge Village, Plymouth, Harvard Square, Gloucester and Rockport, Salem and Marblehead, Lexington and Concord. Consult with the Exec-U-Tours representative at the registration area anytime between 11:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, August 16. Remember too that Boston, like London, is a good walking town; a map is reproduced in this Newsletter.

As we go to press, we have just learned of the Black Heritage Trail, a walking tour past sites in the Beacon Hill area that relate the history of 19th Century Black Boston. A free brochure with a map of the Trail is available by writing or telephoning the Museum of Afro American History, African Meeting House, Smith Court, off Joy Street on Beacon Hill, Boston, Massachusetts 02114 (617-723-8863).

Information about Boston and nearby areas follows.

Boston, one of the most unique cities in America, has been described by some as a "State of Mind." Long ago she gave her heart to the sea. From the earliest settlers arriving on her shores and the days of the clipper ships, her ports and coastline have been a strong influence on growth and development of the Bay State and her people.

Boston is Bulfinch with the wrought iron balconies, bow-fronts and purple paned windows. She is the rose madder color of the old brick on Beacon Hill, the window boxes along West Cedar Street, the cobblestone driveways leading to the carriage houses of another era, the replicas of the old gas lanterns standing like sentinels on corners.

Boston is the sea, the tang of the salt air, the fishing trawlers with their day's catch, the old ships chandleries and warehouses now converted into fashionable condominiums. It is waterfront park and the fantastic Faneuil Hall Marketplace; it is the Swan boats in the Public Garden, the Magnolia trees in bloom on Commonwealth Avenue; the Marathon on Patriot's Day and the sailboats on the Charles.

The "Cradle of Liberty" is a high school senior reading the Declaration of Independence from the balcony of the Old State House on the 4th of July; the wreaths laid on the gravesites of the 5 signers of the Declaration in Old Granary Burying Ground; the steeple of the Old North Church; the Boston Athenaeum at 10-1/2 Beacon Street, a proprietary library founded in 1807.

Boston is art in its most majestic form in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts; art in the unique "Mrs. Jack's" (the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum with its indoor courtyard of blooming flowers). Galleries along Newbury Street represent the old and the new artists, the traditional and the contemporary.

The city is music, in contrast from the more formal Symphony to the gay and light hearted Boston Pops. It is the Conservatory of Music concerts and "Summerthing" on the Boston Common. It is the sound of the "1812 Overture" on a summernite at the Hatch Shell on Storrow Drive where thousands sit and listen to the Pops outdoor concerts.

Boston is the North End in August at Festival time. The streets are alive with people, parades, music, marching bands, flower decked statues, homemade foods and wines. This section honors her patron saints.

The city is Chinatown, with its pagoda topped phone booths, its narrow streets with her 3,000 community like island celebrating the year of the Dragon with firecrackers and parades.

It is pushcarts laden with colorful fruit and vegetables on a Saturday night in the North End. Boston is opening day at Fenway Park, the Celtics, the Bruins and the Patriots. It is the old clubs on Beacon Hill, the Union and the Somerset, bastions of the Brahmin Society.

Boston is a gateway to a vacationland of small towns, village greens, white spired churches and country roads—a part of America's past and her future.

Nearby Sites:

Massachusetts has a special place for any of your vacation plans and many of these spots are convenient to the city of Boston.

For lovers of sea and surf, consider a trip to the North Shore where there are nautical museums to see, arts and crafts colonies to visit, colonial restorations to browse. Visit the classic Federalist home of Clipper Ship sea captains in Newburyport or travel to Gloucester where fishing fleets still tie up to weathered wharves with their bounty from the deep. And superstition also surrounds you here, especially at the Witch Museum in Salem where you see and hear life-like re-creations of the witch trials of the 1690's. But most of all, you have the sea around you...the deep blue, pristine beauty of Marblehead Harbor, the surf-spumed expanse of Halibut Point in Rockport, the Singing Beach in Manchester, or the stark, colonial purity of Pride's Crossing in Beverly.

Traveling west of Boston you can feel the heartbeat of living history. Begin your trip in Cambridge, location of two of the world's most prestigious academic institutions: The Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Harvard University. Walk through the Francis Russell Hart Nautical Museum at MIT and see ship models from 1000 A.D. to the present. Or browse Harvard Yard and the world-famous Harvard University Museum with its internationally acclaimed exhibit of glass flowers. There's art from all over the world as well as zoological, anthropological, and geological exhibits. Then make a visit to Lexington to see the Battle Green and Buckman Tavern (rendezvous point for the Minutemen on the morning of the Battle). From there, head for Concord, site of the Old North Bridge (where the "shot heard round the world" was fired) as well as of the home of famous 19th century authors including Louisa May Alcott and Ralph Waldo Emerson. Rest from your touring at Walden Pond (now a state beach with picnic areas and a footpath to Thoreau's cabin). Finish your day with a visit to Longfellow's Wayside Inn in Sudbury.

South of Boston you can travel from the birthplace of Presidents to Plimouth Plantation, a re-creation of the first settlement in the New World. Or ride the Edaville Railroad in South Carver, through 5-1/2 miles of cranberry bogs, pine groves, and open fields of water. There are countless things to do and see. You can horse-back ride, hike, picnic, swim. Hear the wind singing over the dunes at Horseneck Beach; square-dance on the wharf in Mattapoisett. Walk through the Whaling Museum in New Bedford and board the battleship Massachusetts in Fall River.

Cape Cod, Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket offer everything under the sun—whether your tastes run to summer theatre, beach-combing, antique-poking in quaint shops along wharves and in little villages in quiet coves! Watch dolphins at Sealand in Brewster and the gulls over endless sand dunes in Cape Cod National Seashore. There's the Heritage Plantation in Sandwich; and Provincetown, a unique blend of art and artisan's studios, fishing trawlers, antique shops and salt-silvered shingled homesteads.

The Berkshire Hills (a 3-1/2 hour ride from Boston) are a feast of history, fun and the arts, and a perfect vacation spot for campers, back-packers and picnickers. If you like music, the Boston Symphony's Tanglewood Music Festival is world renowned. For lovers of the dance, the prestigious Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival in West Beckett is a must. Art fanciers can spend hours at the Clark Art Institute in Williamstown. There's Mt. Greylock Reservation for hiking and camping and the Natural Bridge at North Adams, the only natural bridge in North America formed by water erosion—a delightful vacation in a setting of unparalleled natural beauty.

A last exciting item—the U.S. Open Tennis Championships at the Longwood Country Club in Brookline will be taking place during the NCFR Annual Meeting. The courts are very convenient to the MBTA Green Line (trolley) and this event is one of the highlights of the Boston area summer sports season.

National Council on Family Relations PROPOSED REVISION OF CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS

ARTICLE I

Name

The name of this organization shall be the National Council on Family Relations (hereinafter referred to as the "NCFR").

ARTICLE II

Purpose

Section 1. The NCFR shall be a non-profit educational and professional organization, and shall have perpetual existence.

Section 2. The objectives of the NCFR are to provide opportunities for individuals, organized groups, and agencies interested in family life to: 1) plan and act together on concerns relevant to all forms of marriage and family relationships; 2) establish professional standards; 3) promote and coordinate educational and counseling efforts; 4) encourage research; 5) disseminate information; and 6) further effective social action.

ARTICLE III

Membership

Section 1. Any person or organization interested in the purposes of the NCFR shall be eligible for membership.

Section 2. There shall be three categories of membership: individual, special, and organizational. Special memberships shall include the following types: family/husband-wife memberships, emeritus memberships, and student memberships. Student members shall be currently enrolled in college or graduate school or shall have been so enrolled one year earlier. Emeritus members shall have been NCFR members for twenty years and shall be retired from active employment.

Section 3. Dues for each category of membership shall be established by the Board of Directors (hereinafter referred to as the "Board"). Family/husband-wife memberships shall be provided at a reduced rate for any family member of an individual member who does not wish to receive an additional copy of the publications. Reduced rate memberships shall be provided for emeritus and student members.

Section 4. Individual, family/husband-wife, and student members joining the NCFR shall automatically be deemed members of a Council of the NCFR in their state or province of residence and a portion of their membership dues as determined by the Board shall be forwarded to the appropriate state or provincial Council.

Section 5. Groups and agencies concerned with family life may hold organizational membership in the NCFR.

Section 6. Payment of dues shall be annual, with memberships renewable upon expiration of current dues.

ARTICLE IV

Officers

Section 1. The eight officers of the NCFR shall be the following: a president and president-elect, each serving a one-year term, with the president-elect being elected by the voting membership and becoming president at the end of his or her year as president-elect; a program vice-president elected by the voting membership for a one-year term; a membership-public relations vice-president elected by the voting membership for a two-year term; a publications vice-president elected by the publications committee for a one-year term; the immediate past-president; a secretary elected by the voting membership for a two-year term; and a treasurer, elected by the Board for a three-year term. The treasurer may hold office for two consecutive terms.

Section 2. The elected officers shall take office at the close of the Annual Meeting. If for any reason an Annual Meeting is not held, they shall take office October 1.

Section 3. In case of vacancy in any office, the Board shall be empowered to fill the vacancy.

Section 4. Any officer who fails to perform his or her duties adequately may be relieved of office by a two-thirds vote of the Board members voting.

ARTICLE V

Duties of Officers

Section 1. The president of the NCFR shall preside at all business meetings of the NCFR and shall be the chairperson of the Board. He or she shall call meetings of these bodies and perform duties assigned by the NCFR and the Board. He or she shall be able to create ad hoc committees and shall be an ex-officio member of all committees.

Section 2. In the event of the president's absence, incapacitation, resignation, or death, his or her duties shall devolve upon the president-elect. The president-elect shall serve as finance chairperson.

Section 3. The program vice-president shall serve as program chairperson for the annual conference conducted during his or her term of office.

Section 4. The membership-public relations vice-president shall serve as chairperson of the membership-public relations committee.

Section 5. The publications vice-president shall serve as chairperson of the publications committee.

Section 6. The secretary shall keep the minutes of the meetings of the NCFR and the Board.

Section 7. The treasurer in consultation with the executive officer shall disburse funds, as authorized by the Board, and shall serve ex-officio on the finance committee. He or she shall consult with the executive officer on matters concerning the monies of the Council.

ARTICLE VI

Executive Officer

Section 1. An executive officer shall be appointed by the Board. Terms of the appointment shall be set forth in a written contract. The executive officer shall be in charge of the national office of the NCFR, shall have general administrative responsibility under the Board, shall be an ex-officio non-voting member of all committees and of the Board, shall be responsible for the administration of the approved budget, together with the treasurer shall disburse the funds of the NCFR, shall make regular reports to the Board, and shall perform such additional duties as the Board may authorize.

ARTICLE VII

Annual Conference and Business Meeting

Section 1. The NCFR shall hold its annual conference and business meeting in a time and place to be chosen by the Board. Recommendations for site and date shall be made to the Board by a committee appointed by the president.

Section 2. Issues brought before the Annual Business Meeting shall be considered by the Board.

ARTICLE VIII

Board of Directors

Section 1. The Board shall be the permanent governing body of the NCFR.

Section 2. The Board shall meet at least once a year, during the annual conference of the NCFR. Meetings of the Board shall be called at other times as the president deems necessary or upon petition to the president by ten members of the Board. A quorum shall be a majority of the members of the Board and shall be required in order to transact business.

Section 3. The Board shall consist of the following: the eight officers, and the chairperson and chairperson-elect of the Congress of Affiliated Councils, the Section chairpersons, editors of NCFR publications, two student representatives with staggered terms, the ethnic minority chairperson elected by the voting membership for a two-year term, and the executive officer who shall be an ex-officio non-voting member. Board members shall take office at the close of the Annual Meeting following their election. If for any reason an Annual Meeting is not held, they shall take office October 1.

Section 4. Student representatives shall be elected at large by student members. Each candidate must have been a student member of the NCFR for a minimum of one year prior to being elected. Each representative shall serve a term of two years, the first as a junior (non-voting) member and the second as a senior (voting) member. Representatives shall take office at the close of the Annual Meeting following their election. If for any reason an Annual Meeting is not held, they shall take office October 1.

Section 5. To retain membership on the Board of Directors, a member shall not miss two consecutive meetings unless formally excused by the president.

ARTICLE IX Committees

Section 1. The standing committees of the NCFR shall be the following: ethnic minority, finance, membership-public relations, nominating, program, and publications. Additional standing committees shall be created as the Board deems necessary.

Section 2. Committee chairpersons who are not elected shall be appointed by the president when he/she takes office, and committee member appointments shall be made by the president, in consultation with committee chairpersons, except where otherwise specified. Chairpersons may be elected or appointed to a second term.

Section 3. Each standing committee shall have at least one student representative. Student representatives shall be appointed by the president from a slate of nominees proposed by the student members through the student representative to the Board.

Section 4. Except where specified otherwise in this Article, the Board shall determine the size of the standing committees.

Section 5. Board members shall be eligible to serve as members or chairpersons of standing committees and the Board shall maintain active liaison with each of the standing committees.

Section 6. The ethnic minority committee shall represent the interests of the ethnic minority members of the NCFR. The ethnic minority committee shall work in collaboration with the Congress of Affiliated Councils.

Section 7. The finance committee shall prepare the annual budget, for presentation to the Board at the time of the annual conference and business meeting. The finance committee shall perform other duties, as may, from time to time, be assigned by the Board. The fiscal year of the NCFR shall be January 1-December 31. The finance committee shall include the president-elect who shall be chairperson, the president, executive officer, treasurer, and one student member; and any additional members as needed, as determined by the committee chairperson.

Section 8. The membership-public relations committee shall recruit members, promote the organization's visibility, and work for public understanding of family-related issues. This committee shall work in collaboration with the NCFR's national office and with the Congress of Affiliated Councils of the NCFR. The committee shall include the membership-public relations vice-president, five representatives from the Congress of Affiliated Councils, one student member, and additional members as needed, as determined by the chairperson of the committee.

Section 9. The nominating committee shall prepare the slate and other pertinent information for all candidates for office to be filled through election by the NCFR's voting membership. Such information shall be received by the executive officer no later than February 1 each year. A member may be a candidate for only one position on the slate in a given year. The nominating committee shall consist of five members elected by the voting membership from a slate of at least ten names proposed by the Board. The nominating committee member receiving the most votes shall be chairperson.

Section 10. The program committee shall be responsible for planning and conducting the annual meeting, evaluating the program, and making recommendations for future programs. The program committee shall include the program vice-president and one representative from each Section, one representative from the Congress of Affiliated Councils, one student member, and any additional members as needed.

Section 11. The publications committee shall have general oversight of the publications of the NCFR, carrying out policies established by the Board; shall advise on present publications; recommend new publications, when needed; and recommend successive editors to the Board. The editors shall serve terms of three years, and may be re-appointed. The editors shall be directly responsible to the publications committee. The publications committee shall consist of the publications vice-president and six members serving staggered terms of three years each, so that two members are replaced by the committee each year. In addition there shall be one student member. The editors of the NCFR publications shall be ex-officio non-voting members of the committee.

ARTICLE X Sections

Section 1. NCFR members, may, in addition to general membership, hold membership in one or more Sections.

Section 2. Sections of the NCFR shall be as follows: Counseling, Education, Family Action, International, and Research and Theory.

Section 3. Additional Sections may be created by the Board, or by petition of 5% of the NCFR membership, and may be disbanded when it deems such action to be appropriate.

Section 4. The minimum organizational requirement shall include a statement of purpose; the election by the Section of a chairperson, vice-chairperson, and secretary-treasurer at the time of the regular NCFR elections; and a meeting to be held concurrently with the NCFR's annual meeting. Chairpersons shall be elected for a period of two years. Officers of the Counseling and Education Sections shall be elected in the even years, Family Action, Research and Theory, and International in the odd years. Chairpersons of Sections that form subsequently shall be elected in years as determined by the Board.

Section 5. Each Section shall have its own statement of purpose and by-laws, subject to confirmation by the Board; and shall be responsible for activities related to its purpose, subject to review by the Board.

Section 6. Each Section shall have a representative to the program committee who shall serve as the annual conference program chairperson for his or her Section. Such representatives shall be appointed by the Section chairperson who shall be eligible to serve in this role.

Section 7. Individuals who reside permanently outside North America may join the International Section and participate in its activities without joining the NCFR, but shall not receive NCFR membership privileges including the journals unless they do join the NCFR.

ARTICLE XI Awards

Section 1. The Board may establish appropriate Awards and the mechanism for administering the Awards.

ARTICLE XII Publications

Section 1. The official publications of the NCFR shall be determined by the Board.

ARTICLE XIII Affiliated Councils

Section 1. Each state, Canadian province, or specially designated council area in which a minimum of ten regular members of the NCFR reside shall contain a NCFR Affiliated Council which shares the purposes of the NCFR. Local and Regional Councils on Family Relations which share the purposes of the NCFR may also be affiliated with the NCFR. All Affiliated Councils shall present constitutions approved by the Board, and shall pay dues established by the Board to the NCFR, to be used by the Congress of Affiliated Councils.

Section 2. Regular, family/husband-wife, and student members joining the NCFR shall automatically be deemed members of a Council of the NCFR in their state or province of residence and a portion of their membership dues as determined by the Board shall be forwarded to the appropriate state or provincial council.

Section 3. State and provincial Councils, as well as local and regional Councils, shall have the right to admit members who are not members of the NCFR and to collect membership dues from such members. Such members shall not be eligible for membership privileges of the NCFR and shall not vote in NCFR elections or otherwise participate in decisions pertaining to the NCFR. Any questions concerning such matters shall be determined by the Board.

Section 4. Each state or province shall have a membership chairperson, one of whose functions is to recruit members for the NCFR and thus for the Council. Five of the membership chairpersons shall be chosen by the Affiliated Councils to serve as members of the NCFR's membership committee.

Section 5. A Congress of Affiliated Councils shall be composed of all presidents of Affiliated Councils or representatives appointed in their stead by each respective Council. Only NCFR members shall be eligible to serve in the Congress of Affiliated Councils. The Congress shall be represented on the NCFR Board by its chairperson and chairperson-elect, who are elected by the Congress.

ARTICLE XIV Election and Voting

Section 1. Each regular, family/husband-wife, emeritus, life, and student member is entitled to one vote for national officers and issues. An organizational member has one vote, to be exercised by the duly authorized representative of the organization. Only Section members are eligible to vote for Section officers. Only student members are eligible to vote for student positions.

Section 2. Board members of the NCFR to be elected by the members of the NCFR shall be elected by mail ballot of the members. A ballot shall be prepared in the NCFR office and mailed to the membership no later than April 1 of each year. In the return only ballots postmarked on or before May 1 of that year shall be counted. All marked ballots shall be retained by the NCFR office for a period of one year.

Section 3. The candidate for office receiving the largest number of votes shall be elected. In case of a tie, the Board shall determine the candidate elected.

ARTICLE XV Social Action

Section 1. The president shall be the chief spokesperson for the organization, and after consultation with the Board shall present the views of the organization in response to social issues and legislative action relevant to family life.

Section 2. The general membership and the several Sections may prepare and submit position papers or position statements to the Board.

Section 3. The Board shall take action on any position paper submitted by a Section or supported by signatures of at least twenty-five NCFR members within sixty days after submission of the position paper to the president.

Section 4. A two-thirds majority of the Board members voting shall be required for approval of either a position paper or a position statement.

Section 5. Statements approved by the Board shall be promptly and widely disseminated and published in the next NCFR Newsletter.

ARTICLE XVI Amendments

Section 1. Amendments to the Constitution may be proposed by the Board to the membership after a two-thirds vote by the Board, or by petition of at least 1% of the regular members of the NCFR.

Section 2. Amendments to the Constitution shall become effective if accepted by a two-thirds vote of the NCFR members voting by mail. Returns must be postmarked within thirty days of the mailing date indicated on the ballot.

IN MEMORIAM

Marguerite L. Duvall, State College, Pennsylvania, a long-time NCFR member, died recently. She had been a family life and child development specialist with Pennsylvania State University's Cooperative Extension Service. Mrs. Duvall is survived by her husband, Delmer P. Duvall.

NATIONAL WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE ON FAMILIES CHAIRPERSON APPOINTED

Jim Guy Tucker, attorney, and former Congressman from Arkansas, has been appointed National Chairperson of the White House Conference on Families. Mr. Tucker received his B.A. from Harvard in 1964, and his J.D. from the University of Arkansas in 1968. He served in the United States Congress from 1977 to 1979, where he was a member of the Ways and Means Committee, the Speakers' Committee on Welfare Reform, and the Sub-committee dealing with Social Security, Public Assistance, and Unemployment Compensation. From 1973-1977, he was Attorney General of Arkansas. Mr. Tucker has written articles in the areas of energy and consumer protection. He is active in a number of voluntary organizations in Arkansas, and in 1978 was selected by the Jaycees as one of the ten outstanding young men of the year. He is known as a good administrator and an impressive young Democrat. The NCFR looks forward to working with Mr. Tucker as preparations for the White House Conference on Families get underway.

STUDENT NEWS AND VIEWS

Hello once again from Leo J. Shapiro and your other student representatives. We hope each and every one of you are winding down a successful academic year. At this time of the year we would like to review some of the objectives we have achieved up until this point and the goals we hope to accomplish before the Annual Meeting in Boston.

Your student representatives were actively involved in the proposed revision of the NCFR Constitution undertaken by the NCFR Board of Directors. One of the purposes of this revision was to streamline the Board of Directors (currently 36 members) to a more manageable size. Your student reps support the changes. A copy of the revised edition and a ballot accompanies this newsletter, and we urge you to return your vote.

In the area of dollars and cents, we have two announcements to make. First, Carolyn Love has taken the time to itemize this year's student budget of $2,000. Copies are available upon request from her (see her address below). However, I can tell you that most of our funds go into travel expenses, phone calls, and mailing costs. Second, through the vigorous lobbying efforts of Dave Weis, we have been able to abolish all income limits for student membership status. Prior to this enactment student members could not earn over $6,000 a year and still be eligible for student status.

For those of you who remember receiving the Student Interest Questionnaire (SIQ), we have been working to compile the results. The SIQ is a major means of communication between students and their elected representatives; from it general concerns and desires come into focus, and specific action is based on it. Steve Elliott has taken the time and effort to revise the SIQ so that it may be a more effective and efficient instrument in the future. Thanks, Steve.

The NCFR Annual Meeting provides students with a unique opportunity to get professional exposure to new concepts and research in your field of interest as well as to have the opportunity to meet with some of the most prominent professionals. In addition, and directly relevant to your academic/professional growth, prospective graduate students have the opportunity to talk informally with students and teachers of institutions under consideration, who may also be potential employers. Who knows who one can run into?

As a seasoned veteran, (this being my third Annual Meeting, with preceding sites being Philadelphia and San Diego) I know that this is a great way to see our country as well. Because I have never had the opportunity to visit Boston, I am looking forward to this event with great anticipation.

As in the past, we have arranged for NCFR student members to share quad or triple rooms at the hotel at reduced rates.

Those interested in sharing a room at the Sheraton-Boston, the Conference hotel, should send your hotel registration form to David Weis (address next column) as soon as possible so that he may make the necessary arrangements.

Bron Ingoldsby and Candace Fake, senior and junior student representatives respectively to the Annual Meeting Program Committee, have sent us the following information:

"We have a lot of things planned for the student membership this year, so we are hoping to see many of you in Boston. We have the use of room Clarendon A throughout the entire conference, and a message board will be posted there listing some of our activities. Please drop by when you arrive.

"We would like to invite all graduate programs to leave materials concerning their departments in Clarendon A for the student members to look through. It can also be used as a place for students and faculty to get together, or just as a resting place between sessions. The message board can be used to leave notes for one another.

"On Wednesday afternoon, be sure and sign up for one of the Professional Round Tables, and then let's meet at Clarendon A and all go out to dinner together. We'll have a party somewhere later on—see the message board for details.

"On Thursday afternoon we can see the city, and then go to the plenary session and party that evening. The student membership is sponsoring both of these events. And remember that the Student Business meeting is Friday at 5:30 p.m.

"If you have any questions, or would like to help in any way, please call or write Bron Ingoldsby, Senior Student Representative to the Annual Meeting Program Committee, Dawson Hall, University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia 30602 (404-542-2551); or Candace Fake, Junior Student Representative to the Annual Meeting Program Committee, EC 115, Burlington City College, Pemberton, New Jersey 08068 (609-894-9311)."

To continue, I want to reinforce the importance of the Student sponsored Plenary Session featuring Dr. Charles V. Willie of Harvard; the Student sponsored party for everyone attending the Annual Meeting, and designed for fun and social interaction; and the Student Business Meeting at which future objectives are discussed and formal student-student representative communication is fostered. In addition, remember that there is an ongoing employment service which may be important to you.

Finally, as your student reps we would like to hear any of your NCFR-related concerns and needs. So please feel free to contact any of us at any time:

William H. Balch, P.O. 11328, Knoxville, Tennessee 37919; Secretary, John Scott; and Treasurer, Marion Mariner. Board members include Vicky Cromwell, Jim Thompson, and Jerry Harber representing East, Middle, and West Tennessee respectively.

TEXAS: The theme for the two-day 1979 Annual Meeting was Strategies for Strengthening Texas Families. Key-noter was T. M. Parham, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Human Development Services, HEW, speaking on "The Family and Public Policy." Three Texans, speaking from various perspectives, responded to his address. Other speakers included Barton E. Bernstein, Dallas attorney; Bert Kruger Smith, Hogg Foundation; Dorothy Taylor, Extension Service; and Britton Wood, pastor. There were several group sessions, workshops, and an Author's Forum. President is Tommie Lawhon, Division of Family Life, School of Home Economics, North Texas State University, Denton, Texas 76201.

TRI-STATE: The Tri-State Council on Family Relations is offering a special Family Life Study Tour in China in July 1980. There is space for 24. It will be tailored especially to the group's needs, to make it exciting, educational, and tax deductible. Those wishing to be considered and notified as soon as arrangements are complete, and to have some input, if possible, should send their names as soon as possible to Norma L. Newmark, Tri-State Council, 2876 Jerome Avenue, Bronx, New York 10468. Dr. Newmark, who has taken a trip to China, assures us that it is a memorable experience and recommends getting there before tourism takes over. President of the Tri-State Council is Irene Von Cseh, 1192 Park Avenue, New York, New York 10028.

UTAH: New president is Glen Jensen, Department of Family and Child Development, Utah State University, Logan, Utah 84322. Other officers include the following: president-elect, Craig Perry; secretary-treasurer, Beth Vaughn-Cole; board member at large, Gerald Adams; nominating committee, Brent Barlow, Richard Connelly, and Donald Price.

WASHINGTON: Reuben Hill, University of Minnesota, gave the keynote address at the conference on Public Policies and Families sponsored in April by the WCFR. His topic was National Family Policies and Family Impact Analyses. Panels were held on Diversity of Family Needs, Juvenile Court Code Revision, Domestic Violence, Abortion, Socialization, and Changing Sexuality. At the organizational meeting, John Schiller reviewed the history of efforts in Washington to form a state council, and Margaret Movius spoke on the need for a state council. Co-conveners are: Peggy Willis, 5745 Twin Maple Lane Northeast, Seat- tle, Washington 98105 and Margaret Movius, Cooperative Extension Service, E-531 King County Courthouse, Seattle, Washington 98104.

WISCONSIN: In 1978, the WCFR held a conference for professionals called Linkages I. In May 1979, Linkages II, with the theme of Family Enrichment: Wellness over the Life Span, was sponsored, with the goals of facilitating the establishment of supportive connections among individuals, families and community, and facilitating the input from a grass roots level into the formation of public policy affecting families. The format consisted of a series of workshops dealing with 29 different topics of concern to families. At each workshop, non-professionals shared their experiences in their particular topic areas, stressing positive aspects of successful coping, with moderators facilitating the discussions. Conference participants were encouraged to continue meeting with each other in self-help fashion around their respective interest areas. It is expected that Linkages III, IV, V, etc. will follow, in different state communities. The WCFR is working in this direction to help local families make their impact in the Wisconsin Governor's Conference on Families and Youth in November. President is Charles Adam, Family Service of Milwaukee, 2819 West Highland Boulevard, Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53208.
