FAMILY ACTION SECTION PROGRAM EVALUATION—

Several student members of the NCFR, organized by Candace S. Fake, will conduct an evaluation of attendance and program for those events sponsored by the Family Action Section. Most of the information will be collected via a questionnaire which the students themselves will complete while they attend the sessions. There are also plans for a few short interview questions, mainly pertaining to audience expectations, which will be asked at the end of each session. The results of this survey will be made public upon completion.

NOTE: Subdivision I AAMFT Credit applies for portions of the program. Check at the NCFR Registration Desk.

Showing In The Theater
a new film series

With Care and Respect

a thoughtful, consistent and rewarding approach to infant care — for parents, professionals, students

1. On Their Own / With Our Help

(Examples of Selective Intervention)

As several babies freely explore a playroom, infant specialist Magda Gerber shows when NOT to interfere with their choices and solutions. When she does offer help, she involves the infant's active participation.

2. The Way We See Them

(Learning To Observe Infants)

Watching infants interact and engage in self-teaching, viewers learn first hand the values of careful observation. Commentary by Dr. Thomas Forrest helps us appreciate the infants' resourcefulness, tolerance of frustration and individual learning styles.

3. Our Prime Time

(Developing Synchrony in Daily Care Routines)

For Release in Winter 1979

Diapering, feeding, dressing, bathing—the prime time for learning and building a relationship of trust and cooperation.

This series reflects the philosophy of Resources for Infant Educators and its founders, Thomas Forrest, M.D., pediatric neurologist at Children's Health Council, Palo Alto, CA and Magda Gerber, infant specialist, Pacific Oaks College, Pasadena, CA.

Nan's Class

Nan's Class candidly, and sensitively, explores the joys of prepared childbirth. The film isn't dated. It's as contemporary as the Lamaze method itself.

Pregnancy & Childbirth Series

Four color films for premarital and prenatal counseling to help answer questions of prospective parents—

BEFORE PREGNANCY—Stresses that having a baby should be the result of a positive decision by the parents.

PRENATAL—Explains the changes in the mother's body and the fetus during pregnancy.

LABOUR & DELIVERY—Stages of delivery are examined and delivery is shown in detail.

SPECIAL CASES—Information on breech birth, premature delivery, induced labor and Caesarean section are included.

SEX THERAPY

What some users of EDCOA patient counseling films have to say about them

"The Edcoa Marital-Sexual Patient Counseling Films are ideal for teaching medical students and any others training in human sexuality."

John Money, Ph.D.

Johns Hopkins Medical School

"Our nurse instructor supervisor and staff previewed your demonstration program on the Human Sexuality Series and expressed the opinion they were the best they had seen and the program formats were excellent."

*School of Health Care Sciences
USAF, Dept of the Air Force*

"I am delighted with the quality of these first eight films in your Sex Therapy Series, am using them in my private practice and in the professional training of sex therapists, and find them very useful.
