the Single Parent

Single Parent, Part I and Part II — Each part approximately 22 minutes, 16mm, color and sound. Sale price for each part $245, rental fee per day of use, $35, for each part.

This film, based on issues that are common to all single parent homes, points out the complexity of problems that can arise within different families facing these situations. In Part I some of the issues discussed are: conflicts faced by the single parent in redefining self, in needs of children and the demands of a job; problems for a single parent in establishing new intimate relationships; rights of custodial parent to assistance from non-custodial parent; and special kindness in facing serious problems involving children. Some other issues explored in Part II are: the remarriage of an ex-spouse; the organization of social situations around a two-parent family; needs of a single parent for help from family and friends; and pressure from children to get a new spouse. Intertwined throughout these issues are problems encountered by the children.

Single Parent is valuable for providing a supportive environment for single parent or parent-child discussion groups which will facilitate the re-thinking of problems. Together with questions in its study guide, this stimulus-vignette film dramatizes issues to a level where new, objective resolutions to the problems will become clear to the discussion group participants. (Order #s Part I 77583; Part II 77585)
