Hyatt Regency Crystal City A Different Kind of World

The Hyatt Regency Crystal City is located adjacent to the Washington National Airport, in Arlington, VA.

There are two fast-food restaurants across the street from the hotel. The hotel is only minutes away from the most popular attractions in Washington: the White House; U.S. Capitol building; Mount Vernon; Smithsonian Museums; Holocaust Museum; Vietnam Memorial; Lincoln Memorial; Washington Monument; and Old Town Alexandria, with its lovely historical homes, churches, and shops; NEWSEUM; American History Museum; Netherlands Carillon; and Lee-Custis Mansion.

If you like to shop, the Crystal City Underground, approximately 6 blocks from the Hyatt, houses 120 stores and provides access to the Metrorail, one of the finest subway systems in the world. The Fashion Centre, at Pentagon City, features 150 stores. There are over 400 restaurants in the Arlington and Alexandria area.

The Hyatt provides complimentary shuttle service to the Metrorail stop at the Crystal City Underground, and other nearby sites in Arlington. If you are at the Metro station at the Crystal City Underground, dial 888-492-8812 on a white courtesy phone, and the Hyatt will send a van to pick you up.

For more information, view the web sites for Washington, DC (www.washington.org), and Arlington County, VA (www.co.arlington.va.us\acvs).

Conference Highlights

NCFR Reaches Out to Touch the Community

NCFR and the Hyatt Regency Crystal City are combining forces with Habitat for Humanity to help build a home for a low-income family on Thursday, Nov. 6, and Friday, Nov. 7. Habitat can accommodate a limited number of volunteers each day. Hours are 9:00 am - 3:30 pm.

Habitat for Humanity is a nonprofit organization that supports the construction of low-cost housing for families.

Tasks Available: Conference attendees may volunteer for a variety of tasks, none of which require any previous experience. All volunteers receive on-the-job training by experienced Worksite Supervisors, provided by Habitat for Humanity. Last year, about 20 NCFR attendees participated, and were enriched by this experience.

You must register by October 10 with D. Terri Heath, Coordinator. If you are interested in donating your time and talents, contact Terri at: 5246 Univ. of Oregon, Eugene, OR 97403-5246; phone: 541-346-3256; Fax: 541-346-5026; e-mail: dtheath@oregon.uoregon.edu. Please use e-mail, Fax, or mail, if possible.

You may also donate monetary gifts to the Habitat for Humanity at the Brigham Young University Ice Cream Social on Saturday, Nov. 8, 9:00 - 11:00 pm.

National Parenting Education Network (NPEN)

Conference attendees are invited to a meeting of this network of parent educators. An overview of NPEN will be presented, followed by a discussion of issues related to identifying a knowledge base for parenting education.

COMMONWEALTH of VIRGINIA

Office of the Governor

George Allen
Governor

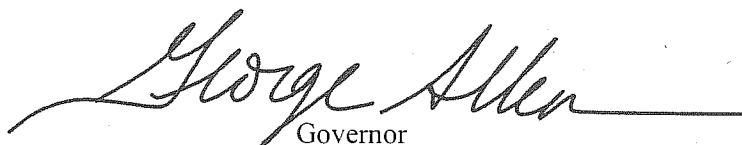

A MESSAGE FROM GOVERNOR GEORGE ALLEN

On behalf of the citizens of the Commonwealth of Virginia, it is a pleasure to welcome the members of the National Council on Family Relations to Arlington as you gather for your annual conference, November 7-10, 1997.

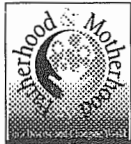

Strong, healthy families are the basic unit of our society. Families are where we prepare our children -- our most valuable resource -- for the future by instilling in them the virtues of hard work, loyalty and good citizenship. Children will become productive, successful adults and leaders with the support and guidance of their families. I join the National Council on Family Relations in recognizing and honoring the family and its crucial role in strengthening our society.

While you are in Arlington for the conference, I hope you will have the opportunity to explore some of the many scenic and historical attractions of the area. Whether strolling along the banks of the Potomac, touring George Washington's home at Mount Vernon or paying tribute to America's heroes at the Arlington National Cemetery, you are sure to enjoy the history and hospitality of the Old Dominion.

This meeting provides an opportunity to exchange new ideas and to develop strategies for promoting productive and cohesive families. Best wishes for an enjoyable and rewarding conference and for much continued success.

Governor

Session #122 Regency Ballroom C/D

Special Session With Stuart T. Hauser

Beyond Adolescence: Discovering Intergenerational Continuities in Close Family Relationships
Through Longitudinal Study,
Stuart T. Hauser, M.D.

Discussant: David Reiss, M.D.
Presider: Patricia Short Tomlinson

Sponsored by the Family and Health, and Family Therapy Sections.

The theme of continuities in development - across the lifespan and generations - has captured great interest over the years. Based on a 23-year longitudinal study, Dr. Hauser addresses continuities in family relationships from the adolescent years to the subjects' new families with respect to marital and parenting interactions. He also considers the impact of attachment representations as components of continuities in close family relationships.

Stuart Hauser is Professor of Psychiatry, and Director, Judge Baker Ctr. for Children, Harvard Medical School; Fellow, Amer. Psychopathological Assn., Assn. for Clinical Psychosocial Research; is the recipient of numerous awards and fellowships; has served on editorial boards for several professional journals; and is the author of books, and articles.

10:15 - 11:45 am

Session #210 Regency Ballroom A/B/C/D

PLENARY SESSION

Producing the Mothers of the Nation: Race, Class, and Contemporary U.S. Population Policies, Patricia Hill Collins

Sponsored by the Family Social Science Department, University of Minnesota.

President: Ralph LaRossa

Introduction of Speaker: M. Janice Hogan

Recorder: Lane H. Powell, CFLE

Dr. Collins explores the relationship between motherhood, American national identity, and population policies. She demonstrates how the traditional family ideal frames notions of normal, idealized motherhood, and how that ideal shapes notions of an American national family. She examines how family rhetoric, linking family and nation, draws upon racial meanings to the United States. The population policies she applies demonstrate how the nation-state seeks to regulate the motherhood experiences of women from different racial, social class, and citizenship groups in defense of putative nation-state interests.

Patricia Hill Collins is a Charles Phelps Taft Professor of Sociology with the Dept. of African-American Studies, Univ. of Cincinnati, and author of several award winning books and texts, including the newest release: Fighting Words: Constructing Critical Social Theory; lecturer; consultant; and has held various editorial positions with professional journals.

RESEARCH UPDATE FOR PRACTITIONERS (RUP)*

Lesbian Mothers, Gay Fathers, and Their Children,
Charlotte J. Patterson

Sponsored by Association of Councils and Feminism and Family Studies Section.

Presider: James J. Ponzetti, Jr., CFLE
Introduction of Speaker: Leigh A. Leslie
Recorder: Raeann R. Hamon, CFLE

Dr. Patterson provides an updated overview of research on lesbian mothers, gay fathers, and their children. In the context of contemporary legal and social policy questions, she outlines research strategies and studies in this area, summarizes the findings to date, and offers perspectives on the relevance of this research to law and policy.

Charlotte Patterson is professor of psychology, Univ. of Virginia; Director, Bay Area Families Study; Co-director of the Contemporary Families Study, a program that examines psychosocial adjustment among children born via donor insemination to lesbian and heterosexual parents; co-editor and guest editor of several professional publications; recipient, 1996 Distinguished Scientific Contributions from the Society for Psychological Study of Lesbian and Gay Issues (Div. 44, American Psychological Assn.); and expert witness in cases relevant to lesbian and gay parents and their children.

NEW FROM MAYFIELD!

❖ Jane B. Brooks, Parenting, second edition

A concise and practical introduction to parenting, this revision of Parenting in the '90s focuses on parent-child interaction and its application to the guidance and positive growth of children.

❖ Nancy J. Cobb, Adolescence: Continuity, Change, and Diversity, third edition

The new edition of Adolescence provides a comprehensive survey of the research findings and theories of adolescent development, and shows how this information can be applied to help adolescents meet the challenges they face as they grow into adulthood.

❖ Janet Gonzalez-Mena, *Foundations: Early Childhood Education in a Diverse Society

A practical introduction to early childhood education, this text emphasizes the need to understand child growth and development, developmentally appropriate practices, positive guidance, and the importance of working with families.

Networking
and More...

The world in which families develop is both expanding and shrinking. The “neighborhood” has expanded to include people from many backgrounds and extends far beyond the area around our houses. At the same time, distances and feelings of separation shrink as air travel, telephones, fax machines, the internet, and instantaneous news transmissions transport us to locations around the globe. Families interact with this global environment by both reacting to and influencing the events, products, and media. Some of the skills and activities that families must contend with in this global context are:
■ caring for nature and the physical environment ■ making peace internationally and personally ■ understanding how the media can be used to either unite or separate individuals and families.

The goal for this conference is to change the consciousness and behavior of both researchers and practitioners to include the global interconnectedness of families and individuals.

The Call for Abstracts and application form can be found in your Conference Registration Packet. They will also be inserted in the December 1997 NCFR Report, and can be printed from NCFR's website (www.ncfr.com) after November 20, 1997. Foreign and Canadian members will receive this document in October. Non-members who wish to submit proposals may contact NCFR Headquarters for a form. Hutter

The Changing Family, 3rd edition

In the third edition of this popular text, Dr. Hutter analyzes the family life cycle from a historical and cross-cultural theoretical perspective. Issues of race, class, gender, and ethnicity are incorporated in a global framework that illustrates the diversity of American family dynamics. Current social issues such as abortion, teen pregnancy, single parent families, homosexuality, and family violence are presented with the most up-to-date statistics and data.

Men's Lives, 4th edition

Organized around themes that define masculinity, this highly successful anthology examines the male experience through the use of some of the most recent and relevant articles published on the study of men in society. All stages in the lives of men are discussed, including boyhood, academic experiences, marriage, fatherhood, and work, as well as relationships with women and other men.

Friends University Graduate Kenneth Moore Not Only Passed the Nationwide Test, He Reached the Top

PEOPLE ON

Education

Lynn King, marketing instructor at Wichita South High School, has been certified as a national model marketing program instructor for the 1997-2000 academic years. King is one of 27 instructors nationwide to be certified by the Marketing Education Center, making her marketing program a national demonstration site for other programs.

Kenneth Moore, a Friends University graduate, earned the highest score on the National Marriage and Family Therapy Licensing Exam. Moore was one of 377 candidates from around the United States and received a 93 percent to achieve the top score.

Kenneth Moore, a 1994 graduate of Friends University's Master of Science in Marriage Therapy program, earned the highest score in the nation on the National Marriage and Family Therapy Licensing Exam last November. He earned a 93 percent on the test that enables him to become a licensed marriage and family therapist in Kansas.

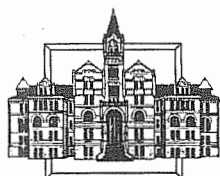

How did he do it? By using the concepts he learned in Friends' master's program, seeking out all available sources of information on marriage and family therapy, and attending a preparation workshop presented by Friends University staff. "Friends' program is a wonderful program," Moore said. "Of the programs I have been in, Friends was clearly the most outstanding program."

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN FAMILY THERAPY*

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN FAMILY DEVELOPMENT AND EDUCATION

- Challenging two-year academic programs with classes offered in a modular format and featuring a nurturing cohort environment. Earn your master's degree while you continue your employment.
- Clinically oriented with an emphasis on applied learning. The programs integrate behavioral sciences and Christian values.

Family Studies Database

WEB!

Formerly Family Resources and Inventory of Marriage & Family Literature

Published in association with the National Council on Family Relations

Family Studies Database (FSD) is the premier computer-based finding aid and index to family research, policy and practical literature, published by NISC (www.nisc.com). This product can be accessed over the Web or from CD-ROM.

Family Studies Database can help you:

More than 176,000
abstracts and citations!

- Find and review relevant family-based literature on a given topic.
- Stay current with the literature published in your profession.
- Identify other practitioners or researchers working in your field, or in another field that interests you.

Since 1970, FSD has indexed and abstracted practical, academic, and popular literature; conference papers; federal, state, and local government reports; books and book chapters; COOP and extension program reports; international agency publications; theses; statistical reports; and much more. With over 176,000 abstracts and citations, the Family Studies Database is the most comprehensive index to family-related literature available, featuring the Inventory of Marriage & Family Literature (formerly published in print), Family Resources (formerly available online) and the well-respected Australian Family & Society Abstracts. More than 1,100 important journals and other sources are regularly reviewed.

International in scope, the publications indexed in FSD come from a broad array of social science disciplines including: family science, social work, psychology, health sciences, demography, human ecology, economics, sociology, law, education, and economics. Articles are selected and abstracted based on their relevance and usefulness to family studies specialists, practitioners, researchers, and policymakers. Articles are described using the vocabulary and terminology familiar to family studies professionals, which means better record retrieval for you. Furthermore, as a computer-based reference tool, Family Studies Database is able to index literature quickly and efficiently, and always includes the most current literature available.

Subjects covered in the Family Studies Database:

trends in marriage & family family violence family law & related issues family therapy
minority groups organizations & services work & gender roles

marriage & divorce
parenting adolescents
family counseling & education intermarriage blended families reproduction issues

family relationships & dynamics
AIDS/HIV
sexual attitudes & behavior families at risk families with special problems mate selection
aids for theory & research

The Family Studies Database is published in conjunction with NISC's award-winning search-and-retrieval software, ROMWright™. The Family Studies Database is available in two formats:

- Through our BiblioLine access from the Internet, new records are added to FSD monthly.
- Through a CD-ROM subscription, new records are added to FSD every three months.

Stoyles Graphic Services would like to wish the members of the National Council on Family Relations a successful conference. We are proud of our role as the printer for the Journal of Marriage and the Family and Family Relations. We value the working relationship we have with NCFR.

Make the Most of the Conference*

How to Prepare Before You Leave Home

Review the Printed Program Carefully

- Note all of the sessions you would like to attend. Highlight your "must sees."
- Rank the presentations you want to attend. Try to schedule NCFR business and committee meetings as well as receptions/parties. Be sure to include videos you want to preview and appointments you want to make. Write your final choices on your Personal Schedule Planner in the pull-out section of this Program.

Make Networking Plans

- Ask your colleagues to introduce you to people you would like to meet.
- Prior to the Conference, schedule appointments with those people you would like to meet at the Conference. Read their books and articles for ease in conversing with them.
- Bring return address labels or print your name and address on a sheet of peel-off labels so that you can quickly attach them to sign-up lists and order cards.
- Bring along business cards to hand to exhibitors, presenters, and new friends.
- Pack copies of your resume for colleagues and the Employment Matching Service.
- The NCFR Conference offers a limited number of volunteer positions. Many student volunteers at NCFR Conferences have become active members in our association after this experience. If you work 8 hours, your Conference registration fee will be refunded after the Conference. Contact the NCFR office by September 1 to obtain a form.

Miscellaneous notes

- Register before the conference so that you can review materials ahead of time.
- Remember - you must be registered and wear your name badge at all times to attend any session, including receptions and Section member meetings.
- To prepare for emergencies, leave the telephone number of the hotel, your schedule, and NCFR's number with your family and colleagues.
- Select clothes that create the image you want to project at the conference. This is particularly important if you are using the job service. Also include clothes for exercise, and all types of weather.

* Adapted from Planning a Successful Conference, by Cynthia Winter (Sage Publications, 1994).

- Allow space in your luggage to bring home copies of papers, books, and flyers.

Promote Yourself: Use the Employment Matching Service

- The NCFR Employment Matching Service lists job openings, candidate files, and provides space for interviews. Many universities and colleges use the Matching Service for initial interviews.

Tips for Using the Employment Matching Service

- Follow the directions explicitly when preparing your materials.
- Bring a supply of resumes and business cards with you. You may find openings not listed through the Employment Matching Service.
- Send your Employment Matching Service materials before the Conference so that you are listed in the alphabetic files. Inform colleagues you are looking for a job; they may give your name to employers.

Be Assertive at the Conference

- Register at the Employment Matching Service on opening day and keep returning -- new jobs are posted daily. Leave messages on the board for those you wish to contact, and keep checking. If there is no response to your notes, leave a room message or ask colleagues to help you find them, but keep trying!
- Remember that you are making an impression at all Conference events, sessions, receptions, and parties. You may even meet prospective employers in Conference sessions. Network, dress, and conduct yourself accordingly. Send thank you notes to all appropriate people.

Be An Active Participant in Conference Activities

- Attend all main sessions. The speakers are leaders in the family field.
- If you are attending with several colleagues, choose a variety of presentations so that you can cover more topics, and share information and handouts later.
- Take notes during the sessions and purchase the audio and/or video tapes.
- Attend a variety of sessions: posters, papers, round tables. Each offers unique learning and networking experiences. Small informal sessions offer opportunities for interaction between presenters and the audience.
- Stay after sessions and introduce yourself to the speaker(s) -- but be courteous of the speaker(s)' time.

■ If sessions offer 3 or 4 papers, and only one is of interest to you, Conference etiquette allows you to quietly enter or leave a session between papers. If several presentations conflict, leave a business card so the author can contact you or send you the handout.

■ Throughout a session, think of questions you may want to ask the speaker during the question/answer period. Don't ask questions that give the impression you weren't listening. Keep your questions brief. Don't seize the stage for yourself and your own work.

Types of Conference Sessions

■ If you are registered and wearing a name badge, you are free to attend any session listed, with the exception of the receptions sponsored by colleges/universities. No advance reservations are required for sessions. During concurrent sessions, you choose which one to attend.

■ Plenaries: General sessions attended by all registrants. Speakers focus in depth on a theme. No other sessions are scheduled during these sessions.

■ Concurrent Section Sponsored Sessions: Each session has an overall theme. Three to four papers are presented during the time period. Some include audience discussion. Symposia/Workshop sessions have specific themes. A moderator leads the discussion, and a discussant relates the papers to each other.

■ Posters: Presentations summarized in graphic form. Posters are grouped by subject. Authors are present to discuss their work, and may have handouts for you to take home.

■ Round Tables: Informal discussion sessions with 1 or more leaders presenting a 10-15 minute overview of a specific topic. Round tables are limited to 10 participants per table on a first-come, first-serve basis.

■ Focus Groups: Special topic groups that meet for an informal discussion of topics not central to existing Sections within NCFR. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Integrate With NCFR

■ Attend the Orientation session for those who want to become more involved in NCFR on Friday, Nov. 7, 1:00 pm. Learn how you can share your expertise.

■ NCFR membership and NCFR Sections are excellent means of advancing your career, and establishing professional networks.

■ Attend business and Section membership meetings. Your input is important and provides a way of becoming active in NCFR.

■ Volunteer to help with Conference functions and other programs and committees. You benefit by working side by side with key leaders.

Visit the Exhibits

■ Exhibits are an integral part of the NCFR conference. They provide one-stop shopping. Many publishers sell by mail, and this may be your only chance to review their materials before buying.

■ Check the Exhibits Directory carefully. Exhibitors include publishers, graduate schools, foundations, government agencies, and other companies providing services for academics.

■ Pick up Exhibit brochures and catalogues during the Conference, for ordering purposes. Exhibitors often offer Conference discounts, or sell their materials at reduced prices at the end of the Conference.

Take Advantage of Networking Opportunities

■ Attend the Newcomers Reception on Friday afternoon, Nov. 7, 2:15 pm. Introduce yourself to other first-time attendees and meet the NCFR Board of Directors. Come to the President's Welcoming Reception on Friday evening, Nov. 7, 8:30 pm. Meet President Pauline G. Boss, her family, NCFR Board members, and long-time NCFR members.

■ Check name badges. They are coded for students or first-time conference attendees. Suggest meeting other attendees for a snack or a meal.

■ Be assertive. When you introduce yourself, have a brief 3-5 second explanation of the kind of work you do to help break the ice. Be a good listener!

■ To find someone, leave messages in several places: the NCFR message board, the hotel front desk, or under the guest's door.

■ Attend receptions and parties especially those sponsored by college departments.

■ Use the central sitting areas. These are great places for people you know to introduce you to people they know.

■ Exchange business cards when meeting new colleagues. Make notes on the back to remind yourself about significant information. Follow up with phone calls or notes after you return home.

■ Share rooms. Staying with a group of people adds to the fun and lowers expenses. If you want to room with someone, but don't know who, take advantage of NCFR's matching service.

■ Participate in a pay your own way dinner with others. Stop in the Hospitality Room (Regency Ballroom, center section) and sign up to go out with a group. Members of the Local Arrangements Committee and the DC Council on Family Relations serve as your hosts.

Keep Physically Fit, Mentally Alert and Safe

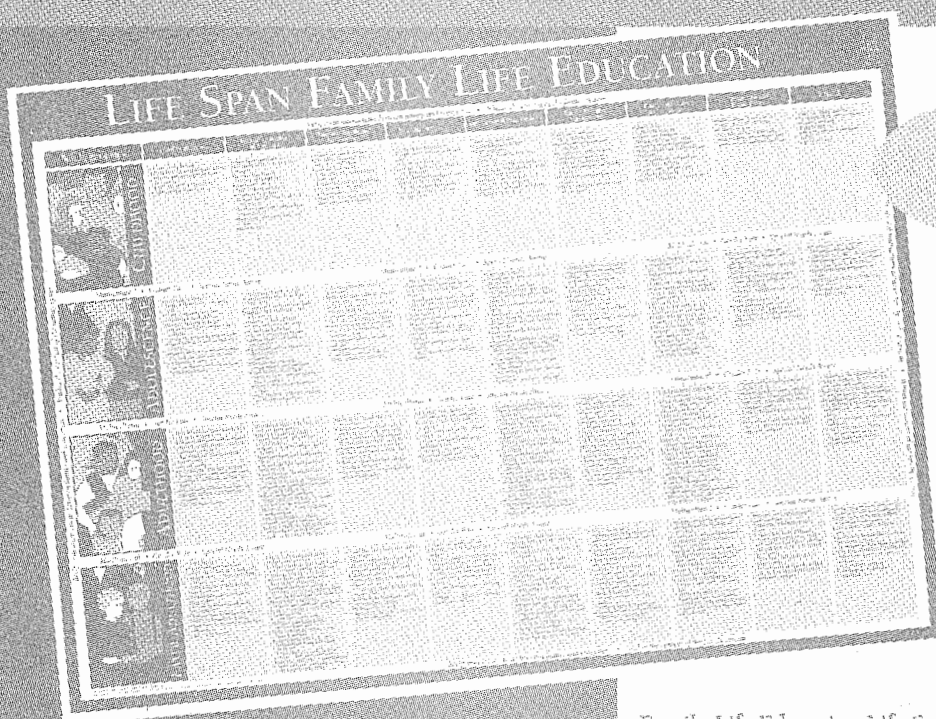

■ Make sure you get enough rest during the Conference. Fatigue is predictable due to a combination of late evenings, presentations, dinners, parties, early sessions, and meetings.

■ Don't skip meals. Try to eat a balanced diet. Take work-out gear. The hotel has indoor exercise equipment.

■ Be safety-smart while at the Conference. 1) Don't wear your name badge outside the Conference facility. 2) Stay in groups when walking outdoors. 3) When you are in your room, keep the door locked and the deadbolt engaged at all times. If someone comes to your door, use the peephole to see who it is. Call the front desk or security if the person says that he/she is on the hotel staff to see if the visit is authorized. 4) Be alert when riding an elevator by yourself. 5) Leave valuables in hotel safe deposit boxes.

■ Frequently check for messages at the Message Board. Call the hotel front desk for phone calls.

Family Life Education Life Span Framework Poster

Revised & Expanded

Later Adulthood Life Stage Now Included

Available October '97

This attractive, two-color laminated, 38" x 27" wall poster based on the Certified Family Life Educator framework describes nine major content and learning concepts for family life education programs over four life stages: childhood, adolescence, adulthood, and later adulthood -- a total of 36 cells.

Latest revisions include the addition of later adulthood as a separate life stage and the incorporation of multi-culturalism, gender, and special needs throughout the framework.

Ideal for curriculum design, program development, continuing education, classroom instruction, and program assessment. An excellent resource for those involved in family life education.

The National Council on Family Relations

The National Council on Family Relations (NCFR) is a member-funded, nonprofit, nonpartisan organization for professionals in the family field.

NCFR Mission Statement:

The National Council on Family Relations provides a forum for family researchers, educators, and practitioners to share in the development and dissemination of knowledge about families and family relationships, establishes professional standards, and works to promote family well-being.

Founded in 1938, NCFR has a membership of over 4,000 family professionals worldwide. It publishes two premier journals, Journal of Marriage and the Family and Family Relations and an impressive list of books and teaching materials.

The NCFR Annual Conference, held in November, provides a forum for discussion through plenary sessions, presentations of research and practice models, and dialogue between conference attendees. Approximately, 1,300 professionals attend the Conference each year.

Objectives of the NCFR Annual Conference:

- To provide a means for family professionals to disseminate the latest research and policy information.
- To enable attendees to network with leading professionals in the family field.
- To share stimulating presentations by plenary speakers and leading family researchers.
- To obtain the latest family research through a variety of learning formats including plenaries, poster sessions, round tables, symposia, and papers.
- To offer attendees continuing education credits.
- To present the latest materials in the family field via the exhibits.
- To give NCFR members an opportunity to learn more about the governance of the organization and provide opportunities for involvement in various Conference activities.
- To provide a forum for public policy discussion.

Presider: Stephen F. Duncan

■ If sessions offer 3 or 4 papers, and only one is of interest to you, Conference etiquette allows you to quietly enter or leave a session between papers. If several presentations conflict, leave a business card so the author can contact you or send you the handout.

■ Throughout a session, think of questions you may want to ask the speaker during the question/answer period. Don't ask questions that give the impression you weren't listening. Keep your questions brief. Don't seize the stage for yourself and your own work.

Types of Conference Sessions

■ If you are registered and wearing a name badge, you are free to attend any session listed, with the exception of the receptions sponsored by colleges/universities. No advance reservations are required for sessions. During concurrent sessions, you choose which one to attend.

■ Plenaries: General sessions attended by all registrants. Speakers focus in depth on a theme. No other sessions are scheduled during these sessions.

■ Concurrent Section Sponsored Sessions: Each session has an overall theme. Three to four papers are presented during the time period. Some include audience discussion. Symposia/Workshop sessions have specific themes. A moderator leads the discussion, and a discussant relates the papers to each other.

■ Posters: Presentations summarized in graphic form. Posters are grouped by subject. Authors are present to discuss their work, and may have handouts for you to take home.

■ Round Tables: Informal discussion sessions with 1 or more leaders presenting a 10-15 minute overview of a specific topic. Round tables are limited to 10 participants per table on a first-come, first-serve basis.

■ Focus Groups: Special topic groups that meet for an informal discussion of topics not central to existing Sections within NCFR. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Integrate With NCFR

■ Attend the Orientation session for those who want to become more involved in NCFR on Friday, Nov. 7, 1:00 pm. Learn how you can share your expertise.

■ NCFR membership and NCFR Sections are excellent means of advancing your career, and establishing professional networks.

■ Attend business and Section membership meetings. Your input is important and provides a way of becoming active in NCFR.

■ Volunteer to help with Conference functions and other programs and committees. You benefit by working side by side with key leaders.

Visit the Exhibits

■ Exhibits are an integral part of the NCFR conference. They provide one-stop shopping. Many publishers sell by mail, and this may be your only chance to review their materials before buying.

■ Check the Exhibits Directory carefully. Exhibitors include publishers, graduate schools, foundations, government agencies, and other companies providing services for academics.

■ Pick up Exhibit brochures and catalogues during the Conference, for ordering purposes. Exhibitors often offer Conference discounts, or sell their materials at reduced prices at the end of the Conference.

Take Advantage of Networking Opportunities

■ Attend the Newcomers Reception on Friday afternoon, Nov. 7, 2:15 pm. Introduce yourself to other first-time attendees and meet the NCFR Board of Directors. Come to the President's Welcoming Reception on Friday evening, Nov. 7, 8:30 pm. Meet President Pauline G. Boss, her family, NCFR Board members, and long-time NCFR members.

■ Check name badges. They are coded for students or first-time conference attendees. Suggest meeting other attendees for a snack or a meal.

■ Be assertive. When you introduce yourself, have a brief 3-5 second explanation of the kind of work you do to help break the ice. Be a good listener!

■ To find someone, leave messages in several places: the NCFR message board, the hotel front desk, or under the guest's door.

■ Attend receptions and parties especially those sponsored by college departments.

■ Use the central sitting areas. These are great places for people you know to introduce you to people they know.

■ Exchange business cards when meeting new colleagues. Make notes on the back to remind yourself about significant information. Follow up with phone calls or notes after you return home.

■ Share rooms. Staying with a group of people adds to the fun and lowers expenses. If you want to room with someone, but don't know who, take advantage of NCFR's matching service.

■ Participate in a pay your own way dinner with others. Stop in the Hospitality Room (Regency Ballroom, center section) and sign up to go out with a group. Members of the Local Arrangements Committee and the DC Council on Family Relations serve as your hosts.

Keep Physically Fit, Mentally Alert and Safe

■ Make sure you get enough rest during the Conference. Fatigue is predictable due to a combination of late evenings, presentations, dinners, parties, early sessions, and meetings.

■ Don't skip meals. Try to eat a balanced diet. Take work-out gear. The hotel has indoor exercise equipment.

■ Be safety-smart while at the Conference. 1) Don't wear your name badge outside the Conference facility. 2) Stay in groups when walking outdoors. 3) When you are in your room, keep the door locked and the deadbolt engaged at all times. If someone comes to your door, use the peephole to see who it is. Call the front desk or security if the person says that he/she is on the hotel staff to see if the visit is authorized. 4) Be alert when riding an elevator by yourself. 5) Leave valuables in hotel safe deposit boxes.

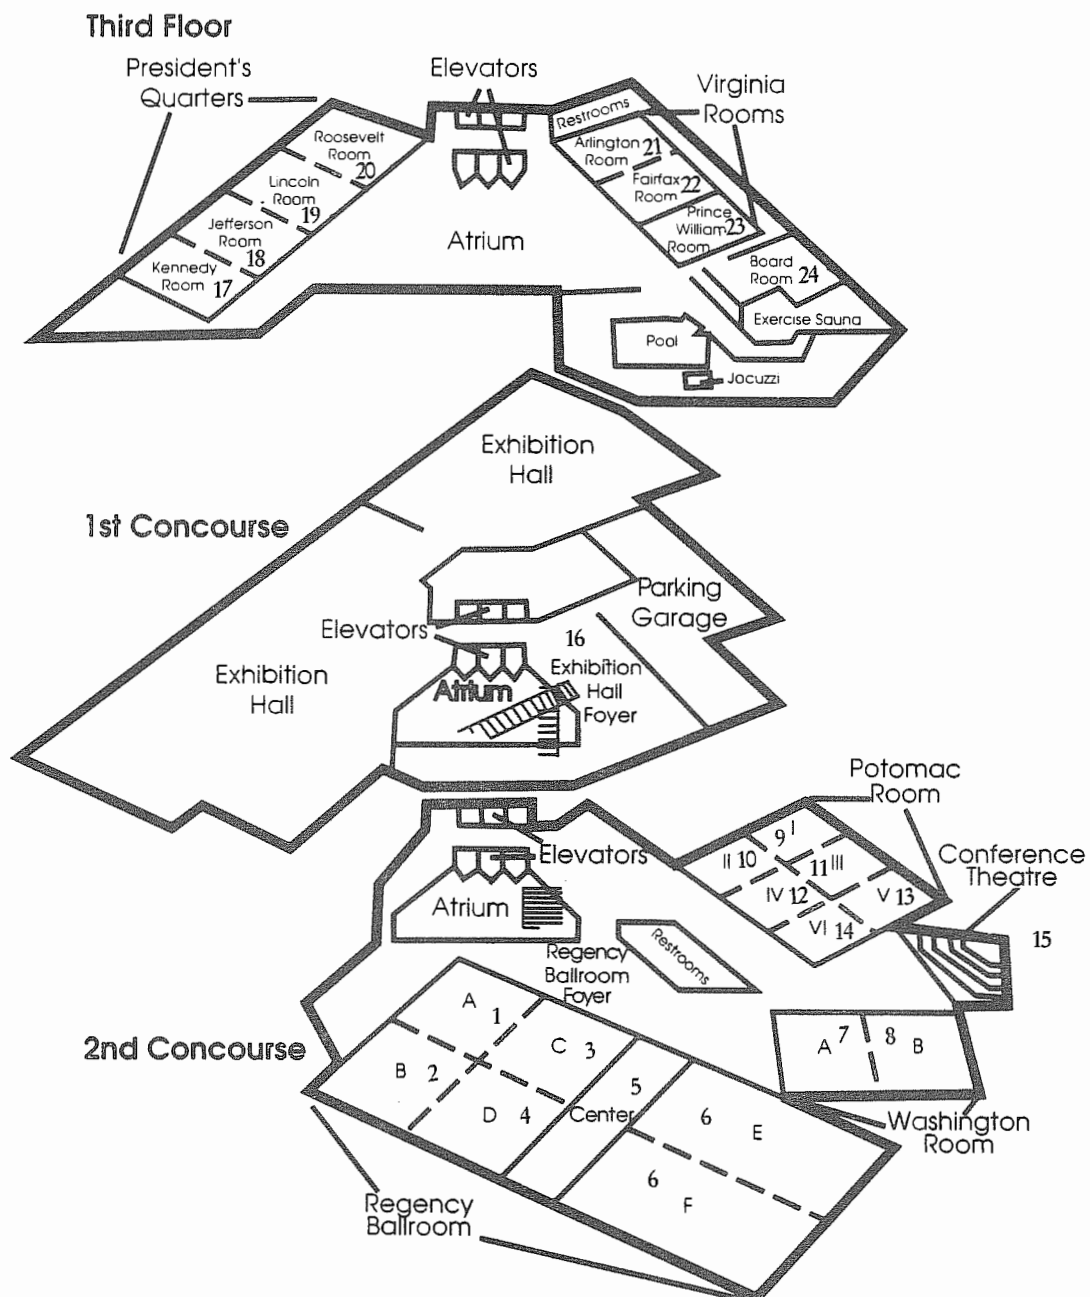

■ Frequently check for messages at the Message Board. Call the hotel front desk for phone calls.
