Objectives of the NCFR Annual Conference

- To provide a forum to disseminate family research
- To share effective and evidence-based practice applications for direct family service
- To promote the CFLE credential and its educational and preventive approach to working with families
- To discuss policy implications of family research and how to inform decision-makers
- To promote the professional development of its membership, through participation in NCFR governance and by offering opportunities for continuing education units (CEUs) for credentialing

NCFR Mission Statement

To provide an educational forum for family researchers, educators, and practitioners to share in the development and dissemination of knowledge about families and family relationships, establish professional standards, and work to promote family well-being.

2008 Conference Theme

The lenses through which we view family affect what is seen and unseen, as well as how our research findings are understood. The theme of this year's conference encompasses how families are defined, which family processes are presumed to be adaptive, and how our research findings are interpreted in the public arena.

Putting on diverse lenses (cross-culturally, methodologically, disciplinarily, pedagogically, ideologically, and in other ways) allows us to expand our vision of possibilities for family relationships.

Tips for Navigating the NCFR Conference Program

The conference program is divided into the following Sections:

- Program at a Glance - Program schedule in chronological order
- Subject Index - Listing of presentations by subject
- Pre-conference Events - Events and Workshops on Tuesday, November 4
- Educational Sessions - Complete list of all plenary, special sessions, papers, workshops, symposia, posters, round tables
- Special Events - Receptions, etc. in chronological order
- Business Meetings - Board, Committee, Section Member Meetings, Focus Groups, and Member-initiated Meetings
- General Conference Information
- Behind the Scenes of the Conference and NCFR
- Index of Program Participants
- Your Personal Scheduler - Pull out section
- Map of the Peabody Hotel and Conference Center - Pull out section

2008 Proposal Reviewers

One of the strengths of the NCFR Annual Conference is the Concurrent Sessions sponsored by Sections. Colleagues submit proposals they would like to present at the conference. These are blind reviewed by three peer reviewers from the Section to which the proposal was submitted. The reviewers' role is key to ensuring that conference presentations are of the highest quality for a rich, rewarding, and stimulating conference experience for both research and practitioner proposals.

See the World Through New Eyes: NCFR Pre-Conference Learning Experience at Heifer International

Tuesday, November 4, 2008

9:00 am - 5:30 pm

Meet at the front of the Hotel

Supported by the International Section
Catherine Solheim, Chair

Join NCFR colleagues for this day-long learning experience at Heifer International (HI) facilities.

A bus will take you from the hotel to the Heifer headquarters in downtown Little Rock where the tour begins. You will learn about HI's approach to alleviating global hunger through their "passing on the gifts" approach to development and sustainability.

Following the tour at headquarters, participants will be driven by bus to the HI Ranch where you will see the global villages from around the world with examples of projects based on the organization's principles of gender equity, agroecology, spirituality, and micro-entrepreneurship.

Additional registration required. Fee: $50.00 which includes lunch and transportation. If you have not pre-registered, please sign up with the Registration Cashier at the Conference Registration Counter in the Ballroom Foyer.

Extension Family Life Specialists Workshop

Tuesday, November 4, 2008

12:30 - 7:30 pm

Extension Family Life Specialists' Pre-conference will feature the sharing of Extension's best family programs as well as an informative update on evidence-based programming. This is a great opportunity to catch up with colleagues and programs! In addition, registration covers a memorable Southern dinner.

Noon Registration opens

1:00 Welcome and introductions

1:15 Increasing Extension's Evidence-based Programming

2:15 The Best of Extension Programming

4:15 National Awards

4:30 National Report: Caroline Crocoll

6:00 Dinner

Additional registration required. Fee: $60.00 professionals; $40.00 students which includes dinner. If you have not pre-registered, please sign up with the Registration Cashier at the Conference Registration Counter in the Ballroom Foyer.

Watch the Election Results With Your NCFR Colleagues! Starting at 8:00 pm - Neosho Room (Level 2 of the Conference Center)

For those who are at the Conference on Tuesday evening, November 4, spend the evening with your colleagues and watch the Election results.

Pre-conference Events

Theory Construction and Research Methodology Workshop

Tuesday, November 4, 2008, begins at 3:00 pm
Wednesday, November 5, 2008, begins at 8:30 am
Peabody Hotel, Little Rock, Arkansas

You are invited to participate in the 37th Annual Theory Construction and Research Methodology Workshop (TCRM).

TCRM's mission is to facilitate the creation and refinement of theory and methods relative to the study of families. The TCRM Workshop strives to create an environment of discovery, intellectual challenge, and debate for authors and colleagues who have "works-in-progress" that could benefit from the collective wisdom and critique of informed scholars.

TCRM sessions consist of informed discussions of accepted papers that are read in advance of the meeting rather than formal presentations of papers themselves.

(TCRM Sessions for Wednesday are integrated into the NCFR Program. See sessions 106, 107, 113 and 114.)

Additional registration required. Fees: $30.00 for non-students; $25.00 for students; $20.00 for attendance only (does NOT include papers). If you have not pre-registered, please sign up at the TCRM Registration Desk or with the Cashier at the Conference Registration Counter.

Association of Councils Leadership Workshop

The workshop is open to all affiliated council officers. Free for affiliated officers, $30 for all non-officers. If you have not registered, please see the cashier at the Conference Registration Booth. Lunch included.

You Can Do It! Preparing and Submitting a Proposal for the NCFR Annual Conference

Panel: Marilyn Flick, North Eugene High School, Eugene, OR (Preparing a Scholarly Proposal for Practitioners), Lynette Olson, Pittsburg State University, Pittsburg, KS (Preparing a Proposal That Ties to Section Specific Goals) and Cindy Winter, NCFR Program Consultant (Steps to Submitting Your Proposal Online).

The NCFR Annual Conference provides you the field's best professional development opportunity. Attending the sessions and networking with colleagues are just the beginning. To take advantage of its career-building potential - and to share your knowledge with colleagues - presenting your research or practice expertise is important. Many experienced presenters will admit, however, that they were a bit bashful to submit their proposals and to present a session for their peers for the first time. Are you a beginner? Then this AC's session in Little Rock is just for you. You will learn techniques for preparing and submitting a proposal as well as obtain some valuable mentoring from seasoned conference participants.

The Amazing Internet--From Websites to Virtual Worlds: Using Emerging Technologies to Connect With Members and Achieve Your Goals

Presenter: Donna Davis, University of Florida-Gainesville.

The Association of Councils (AOC) offered an informative and enlightening session in Pittsburgh last year on how to use the Internet and its tools to communicate AOC members and other important constituents - and it is back by popular demand and on the schedule in Little Rock. You don't have to be a programmer or web designer to quickly learn how easy and affordable these communications tools can be! This session will help you find programs that are easy to use and FREE, how to determine which tools fit your Council's needs, and will offer a demonstration of each.

Presiders: Marcie Brooke, Association of Councils Past President; Richard Sale, Association of Councils President

Darling, Florida State University; Elisabeth F. Maring, University of Maryland; Christine A. Fruhauf, Colorado State University; Linda Haas, Indiana University-Indianapolis; Shirley M. H. Hanson, Emeritus, Oregon Health and Science University; Erin Kostina-Ritchey, Texas Tech University; Eileen Trzcinski, Wayne State University; Stephan M. Wilson, Oklahoma State University

In this session, we have assembled a group of scholars who have incorporated international experiences into their careers. Through Fulbright scholarships and other fellowships and grants, NCFR scholars are touching the world. In roundtable discussions, hear about their journeys and find out how you can weave international studies into your professional life.

This workshop focuses squarely on academic portfolios, which may prove to be the most innovative and promising faculty evaluation and development technique in years. This session is designed for faculty members, department chairs, deans, and members of promotion and tenure committees. It identifies key issues, red flag warnings, and benchmarks for success. It describes the what, why, and how to develop academic portfolios. It includes an extensively tested step-by-step approach to creating a portfolio and covers twenty-one possible portfolio items on teaching, research, scholarship, and service.

Special Update for Researchers and Practitioners
Implementing a Large-Scale Evaluation of Marriage and Relationships Skills Education: Progress of the Building Strong Families Project

Presenters: M. Robin Dion, Ph.D. and Alan Hershey, Ph.D.

Dion

Hershey

M. Robin Dion is a Senior Research Psychologist at Mathematica Policy Research in Washington, D.C. Currently she is principal investigator for the Building Strong Families project, a large-scale demonstration and rigorous nine-year evaluation of multiple programs to support healthy couple relationships among unwed parents with young children.

Alan Hershey is a Senior Fellow at Mathematica Policy Research, and serves as its coordinator of studies relating to family formation and welfare. He is currently the director of Mathematica's Building Strong Families project for the Administration for Children and Families.

The Building Strong Families (BSF) project is the nation's largest and most rigorous evaluation of interventions to improve relationships among low-income unmarried couples with children. The project was motivated by earlier research findings that at the time of their child's birth, most unmarried couples report having loving relationships and aspirations to marry, but that many soon break up. The BSF intervention includes guided group sessions addressing common couple issues, as well as one-on-one support and referrals to other needed services. More than 5,000 unmarried couples have voluntarily enrolled in the BSF study at sites in seven states and been randomly assigned to a program or control group. The conference presentation will describe the intervention, including the relationship skills curricula on which it is based, as well as the progress of the evaluation, addressing such questions as who participates, the extent of their involvement in program services, and couples' responses to the intervention. It will also explain how BSF was implemented, including how host sites were found and the processes used to identify and recruit couples. The evaluation will assess the impact of the intervention on relationship quality and status, family well-being, and children's social, emotional and cognitive development; a preview will be given of analysis plans as the evaluation proceeds with its follow-up of families 15 months and 36 months after they enter the evaluation sample.

Opening Plenary Session
*Is Child Well-being in the U.S.
Improving or Declining?* Paul R.
Amato, Ph.D. (Official Conference Opening)

Paul Amato is Distinguished Professor of Sociology and Demography, the Pennsylvania State University. He is also a past Program Chair and Section Chair of NCFR and winner of the 2008 Burgess Award and Reuben Hill Award.

Observers disagree over whether children's well-being is improving or declining in the United States. Broad statements about children's well-being are problematic, however, because well-being is a multi-dimensional construct, and not all indicators have changed in the same direction. This presentation reviews evidence on various aspects of children's well-being (such as health, academic achievement, and poverty) and describes structural and policy factors that are linked with shifts in these outcomes.

Presentation of the Reuben Hill Award to Bryndl Hohmann-Marriott and Paul R. Amato, award winners. Frank Fincham, Committee Chair, presenter

Presentation of the NCFR Student Award to Mary Sue Green, award winner. April Few, Committee Chair, presenter

Special Session

Writing Successful Qualitative Research Proposals, Margarete Sandelowski, Ph.D.

Margarete J. Sandelowski is the Cary C. Boshamer Distinguished Professor, University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill School of Nursing. She has been Visiting Scholar at Flinders University of South Australia, Adelaide; University of Alabama, Birmingham; University of Ulster, Belfast, Northern Ireland; University of Aarhus, Denmark; University of Bournemouth, UK. She is also an Associate Editor Research in Nursing & Health.

Successful qualitative research proposals are exercises in artful design, reflexivity, imaginative rehearsal, strategic disarmament, and elegant expression. In this session, each component of the research proposal will be addressed, including presentation of a significant research problem, statement of research purpose and questions, sampling frameworks, data collection and analysis plans, and human subjects issues. Also addressed is how to communicate with diverse reviewers of qualitative research proposals.

Session #216 Ballroom Salon C

Special Session Invisible Worlds of Interdependence: The Secret Life of Networks, Karen V. Hansen, Ph.D.

Karen Hansen is Professor of Sociology, Brandeis University, Waltham, Massachusetts

Americans love to think of themselves as independent and self-sufficient. Families in turn, reflect that imagined glory. According to prevailing conceptions, families "go it alone;" they rely on no one. Even though the U.S. Census Bureau documents parental reliance on numerous people and institutions in childrearing, the data remain largely invisible in popular conceptions of child care and in social science theoretical framing of childrearing. This paper explores the "secret life" of interdependence via in-depth case studies of networks constructed to care for school-age children. Each network operates by a class-shaped logic of reciprocity that is premised on obligation. Members of these care-giving networks navigate structural constraints, assess each other's commitments, needs, intentions, and capacities in light of their own, and experience reciprocity as an expedient asset and a nagging obligation.

Research Update for Researchers - Research Methods Update: The Interdependence of Family Members: Approaches in Multilevel Modeling

Panel:

JuliAnna Smith, Ph.D.; Aline Sayer, Ph.D. and Jade Logan, Ph.D.

JuliAnna Smith, Aline Sayer and Jade Logan are all researchers and faculty members at the University of Massachusetts-Amherst.

One of the most fascinating aspects of studying families is attempting to understand the impact of the strong interdependence between family members on well-being, relationship quality and other outcomes of interest. Unfortunately, many commonly used statistical methods such as analysis of variance (ANOVA) and ordinary least squares (OLS) regression assume that the outcomes being examined are statistically independent of each other. As a result, hypothesis tests based on these approaches will be inaccurate when examining outcomes for individuals who are nested within families. This workshop will provide several statistical models useful for the analysis of dyadic data including the longitudinal multivariate outcomes model for distinguishable dyads. The presenters will walk the participants through the steps required to properly structure data and then to fit these models to data using the HLM6 software package.

Special Session

Oppression: Family Therapist/Practitioner Awareness and Sensitivity

Leader: Kenneth V. Hardy

Kenneth Hardy, Professor of Couple and Family Therapy at Drexel University, College of Nursing & Health Professions, internationally known for his work with diverse and oppressed families, will examine the complex interplay between race, reality, and our relationships. Therapists and other practitioners who work with members of racially oppressed groups often are often challenged by the presence of invisible wounds. These wounds are the culmination of ongoing experiences with injustice, degradation, and discrimination. Lack of awareness and sensitivity to the wounds of oppression can impede practitioners' work with oppressed clients. Innocent acts of insensitivity are often unspoken, unacknowledged, micro-acts that contribute to the premature termination of intervention and the perceptions that oppressed people are resistant to help.

This special session will examine the anatomy of racial oppression and its impact on the life experience of those targeted. It will explore the multitudinous ways in which therapy and other family work potentially replicates acts of oppression for clients whose life experiences have been maligned by prejudice and discrimination. Strategies for uncovering and addressing the invisible wounds of oppression will be discussed. Participants also will be encouraged to explore the ways in which their personal experiences with oppression both enrich and constrain their work as family therapists and practitioners. Strategies for conducting effective cross racial dialogues, and for promoting an authentic climate of inclusion will also be discussed.

Plenary Session

Asian-American Migration: Redefining Identity, Family and Country, Yen Le Espiritu, Ph.D.

Yen Le Espiritu is Professor of Ethnic Studies, University of California, San Diego

Although contemporary United States family arrangements are diverse and fluid, American society continues to idealize the traditional nuclear family, which features a breadwinner husband-father and a stay-at-home wife-mother. This naturalized family structure distorts and devalues the variety of means by which women, men, and children organize their family life. Focusing on Asian immigrant families, this presentation critically surveys the various family arrangements that Asian immigrants have assembled in response to global structures of inequality.

Assistant Professor(s)

Human Development and Family Studies

The Department of Human Development and Family Studies invites applications for two tenure-track positions, available September 1, 2009, with competitive salaries, commensurate with training and experience; attractive benefit packages.

Assistant Professor Counseling in Higher Education

QUALIFICATIONS: Earned doctorate in Counselor Education from CACREP accredited program preferred, or doctorate in closely-related area. Active, ongoing program of research in higher education settings. Record of published scholarship, university teaching and grant support preferred. Expertise and accomplishments in any of the following areas are desired: counseling and student development theory/practice in higher education, supervising practicum/internship training and teaching individual/group counseling theory and skills, assessment and career counseling theory, and multicultural issues in counseling. Ability to work in an interdisciplinary environment.

Assistant Professor Adolescence/Youth Development

QUALIFICATIONS: Earned doctorate (ABD considered) with expertise in adolescent/youth development. Candidates must be able to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in human development, family studies, and/or research methods. Individuals who have a desire to teach statistics at the graduate level are especially encouraged to apply. A record of published scholarship, university teaching, and the ability to work in an interdisciplinary environment focused on human development, families, and communities is preferred.

PROGRAM: The College of Human Services, Education, and Public Policy (CHEP) is the third largest college of the University. CHEP is an interdisciplinary, professional, service-oriented college. The Department of Human Development and Family Studies (HDFS) offers an M.A. in Counseling in Higher Education, and an M.S. and Ph.D. in Human Development and Family Studies. One of the strategic planning priorities for the department is to seek accreditation of the College Counseling program from CACREP within the next two years. The Department also has an accredited Human Services program and has strong collaborative relations with the Center for Disabilities Studies, the Center for Community Research and Service, and the Center for Counseling and Student Development. Please visit our websites for more information about the department (www.udel.edu/ifts) and the College (www.udel.edu/chep).

Session #230 Clinton Presidential Library
Celebration of the Institutional Identity Project and Launching the Journal of Family Theory & Review

NCFR has been involved in an 18-month Institutional Identity Project to help provide a distinct identity that sets NCFR apart from other "sound-alike" organizations. The project was headed by Dwight Jewson, Ph.D., President, Strategic Frameworking, Inc., and son of Ruth Jewson former NCFR Executive Director. The process involved the Board, a Task Force, and members who gave input at Town Hall meetings. Dr. Jewson enlisted Michael Bierut, partner in Pentagram Design, New York City, and designer Kai Salmela, to create a recognizable and consistent visual identity for NCFR. The culmination of this project will be on display at this reception.

In 2009 NCFR is launching a new journal: Journal of Family Theory & Review. This will be launched during this celebratory event. You won't want to miss this important event. Following this celebration you will be treated to a tour of the Clinton Presidential Library.

Shuttle buses will be provided from the hotel to the Library, or it is a short walk. Light refreshments will be served.

Event Sponsor: Wiley-Blackwell Publishing

Sponsor of the Clinton Library Tour: University of Arkansas School of Human Environmental Sciences and the Dale Bumpers College of Agricultural Food and Life Sciences

Position Announcement

The Department of Human Development and Family Science in the School of Education and Social Sciences at Messiah College invites applications for a full-time/term-tenure track faculty position in the Department of Human Development and Family Science.

Responsibilities: Teach a variety of courses in the undergraduate human development and family science program which could include: Marriage and Family Therapy; Strategies of Family Life Education; Marital Relationships; Adult Development; Human Sexuality; Interpersonal Relationships; Death, Grief and Caring, as well as advising, service and scholarship. May also include teaching in a traditional or on-line format for a proposed graduate program in counseling, with marriage and family track.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Marriage and Family Therapy or related field. Licensure in Marriage and Family Therapy and CFLE preferred. Demonstrated excellence in teaching and desire to teach in a Christian college of the liberal and applied arts and sciences. Commitment to professional development via research and/or clinical applications.

The College: Messiah College is a Christian college of the liberal and applied arts and sciences. The College is committed to an embracing spirit rooted in the Anabaptist, Pietist, and Wesleyan traditions of the Christian Church. Our mission is to educate men and women toward maturity of intellect, character, and Christian faith in preparation for lives of service, leadership, and reconciliation in church and society. Messiah College is a teaching institution which emphasizes instruction but values research and public service. Strong support is given to faculty growth and scholarship.

The Department of Human Development and Family Science seeks to enhance the well-being of families in diverse societies through educating students for graduate school and careers in family science; engaging in national conversations on family-related issues; modeling and promoting civic engagement and ethical responsibility in a variety of contexts; conducting academic research; developing and delivering effective family life education programs; presenting ideas and solutions which reflect Christian faith and values; and pursuing lives of leadership, service, and reconciliation both locally and globally. The Department offers two majors: Human Development and Family Science and Family and Consumer Sciences Education, both affirmed by the National Council on Family Relations' Curriculum Review Committee for Certified Family Life Education, and six minors: multicultural families; gerontology; human development and family science; children and youth services; women's studies; and pre-marriage and family therapy.

Starting Date for Position: Fall 2009

Compensation: Salary and rank commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Applications and Nominations: Nominations, as well as applications, are welcome. The search committee will begin screening immediately and continue until a suitable candidate is identified. Applicants should electronically submit a letter of application indicating areas of specialization, their curriculum vitae, a copy of official transcripts, three reference letters and a complete Faculty Employment Application (http://www.messiah.edu/offices/hr/forms/Faculty_Empl_Appl.pdf). General Conference Information

Welcome to the 70th NCFR Annual Conference. The theme: Lenses on Families is the focus of a stimulating and relevant program.

This year's offerings of plenaries, special sessions, research and practitioner updates are outstanding. NCFR Sections have planned stimulating special topic workshops, symposia and posters covering a wide range of topics in family sciences.

In addition to over 350 presentations, you can network with colleagues, meet NCFR Board members and Section Chairs. Learn from several of NCFR's Fellows at "Fellows Round Tables" Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Please leave your cell phone number or Hotel number with family and workplaces. Locating you in an emergency can be difficult.

Accommodations for Special Needs

To insure that all may fully participate in the conference, please ask someone at the conference registration desk to contact Judy Schutz, if you have special needs.

Note: You must wear your name badge at all times. Badges are checked at the door before you can enter the room. Those not registered may not be admitted to sessions.

If You Have Questions Or Need Help...

Stop at the NCFR Conference Registration desk in the Ballroom Foyer on the 2nd floor during registration hours and staff will gladly assist you.

Visit the NCFR Booth in the Exhibits on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Feel free to ask questions of the Board, committee and Elections Council members who are wearing colored ribbons on their name badges.

Your Conference Registration Fee covers admission to the following events: ♦ Plenaries, symposia/workshops, papers, round tables, posters ♦ Special sessions, section and focus group business meetings ♦ All receptions that are not for special invitation only ♦ Exhibits ♦ Newcomers' Reception for first and second time attendees only

Events Requiring Additional Fees and/or Registration:

♦ Pre-conference workshops on Tuesday, November 4 and Wednesday, November 5 ♦ Association of Councils Leadership Workshop/Lunch, Wednesday, November 5 ♦ Fellows Round Tables Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday ♦ JFTR and Institutional Identity Reception, Clinton Library, Thursday, November 6 ♦ Affiliated Councils' Joint Meeting of Representatives of Student Councils, Friday, November 7.

Refund Policy:

REFUND REQUESTS MUST BE IN WRITING AND POSTMARKED BY OCTOBER 24, 2008. NO REFUNDS WILL BE GIVEN AFTER OCTOBER 24 EXCEPT FOR A MEDICAL EMERGENCY. Registration fee refunds are subject to a 50% administrative fee. No refunds for special events unless the event is cancelled. Refund checks will be mailed approximately 3 weeks after the Conference.

Arkansas and Presidential Facts

More about Arkansas and Little Rock

- ♦ Little Rock's Old State House was constructed of handmade brick in 1836, served as the state capitol for 75 years, and continues to inspire citizens and visitors alike as a history museum today. It is the oldest standing state capitol building west of the Mississippi River.
- ♦ Arkansas has the only active diamond mine in the United States.
- ♦ Famous Arkansas residents: Maya Angelou, author and poet; Daisy Bates, social reformer; Glen Campbell, singer; William Jefferson Clinton, president; Dizzy Dean, baseball player; John Grisham, author; Douglas MacArthur general; Scott Joplin, composer; Billy Bob Thornton, actor; Sam Walton, founder of Wal-Mart; Scottie Pippin, basketball player.

- ♦ The Big Dam Bridge, which rises to 90 feet above the Arkansas River in Little Rock, is the longest pedestrian and bicycle bridge in the world at 4,226 feet.
- ♦ It is illegal to mispronounce Arkansas while in the state. It must be pronounced "Arkansaw."
- ♦ Since the 1830s the area now known as Hot Springs National Park has bathed notables as diverse as Franklin D. Roosevelt, Babe Ruth, and Al Capone. The park is entirely surrounded by the city of Hot Springs.

Election/Presidential Trivia

- ♦ In Arkansas voters are allowed five minutes to mark their ballots.
- ♦ George W. Bush is our 43rd president, but there actually have only been 42 presidents. Grover Cleveland was elected for two

My photographs take people on a journey.
And they all begin in Little Rock.

As a photographer, traveling is a major part of my job. I travel all over the nation. My gallery showings take me to larger cities, like New York and Chicago. While collecting my work takes me to tiny places like Wheeling, West Virginia, and El Centro, California.

Thankfully, the airlines at Little Rock National Airport get me wherever I need to go. The airport is incredibly convenient and a very manageable size. With my Clear card, I zip through security on my way in. And with the close pick-up area, getting home is also a breeze. I fly so frequently, security knows me by name. Well, at least by camera case. To find out more, just log on to fly-lit.com.

Index of Program Participants

The following people are listed in the program. The Index lists the information in the following order: Last Name, First Name, Employer followed by Session Number(s) in which the person is a participant. All sessions in the program are listed in chronological order. Sessions beginning with #100s occur on Wednesday, those with #200s are on Thursday, #300s are on Friday, and #400s are on Saturday. To find the participant's name go to the session number in the program. Participants who are participating in a round table or poster session will have the individual number as well as the session number (e.g. #216-71).
